3,000 PLANES OPEN MAY ATTACKS ON NAZIS

Doolittle Reports Destruction of 2,300 Nazi Planes

Total for April Is Higher Than German Output

28 Factories Hit By Allied Bombers

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—More than 2,300 German fighters have been knocked out by American fighters and bomber gunners during April heavy bomber missions by Fortresses and Liberators of the United States Eighth Air Force, Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle said tonight.

The fighter kill—more than 800 in aerial combat and more than 500 on the ground—"is substantially more than the entire German aircraft production for the month," said the Eighth's commander in a broadcast to the United States. He placed April losses of his command at 359 bombers and 144 fighters.

Unofficial Checkup

(An unofficial check of communique reports for April indicated that Doolittle combined figures of both his own (strategic) air force and the United States Ninth (tactical) Air Force, which furnishes part of the fighter escort for nearly every one of his raids. The communique tabulation showed 779 German fighters shot down in aerial combat and many others destroyed on the ground and listed American losses of 358 bombers and 146 fighters. The communiques do not separate figures for the Eighth and Ninth.)

"In addition to the 1,300 we destroyed, there were a large number of German planes destroyed by the Russians, the RAF, and the Ninth, Twelfth and Fifteenth American Air Forces," Doolittle said: "It is obvious the existent German air force is being gradually depleted coincident with Allied strategic bombing operations."

28 Factories Hit

"Among targets in Germany hit in April were twenty-eight factories producing aircraft parts," he added. "Incomplete photographic reconnaissance—incomplete because of unfavorable weather for aerial photos—indicates six of these were almost completely demolished and fifteen more damaged to where immediate production was seriously curtailed or stopped."

Russia Reaches Agreement with Czecho-Slavaks

LONDON, April 30 (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed with the Czecho-Slovak government on the administration of Czecho-Slovak areas liberated by the Red army, the Moscow radio said tonight, quoting a press conference statement by Andrei J. Vishinsky, Soviet vice commissar for foreign affairs.

The agreement was proposed by the Czechs and provides that supreme military powers in the operational zone on Czecho-Slovak territory shall be vested in the supreme (Red army) commander so long as required, said the broadcast, recorded by the Soviet monitor.

21 German Soldiers Executed as Traitors

STOCKHOLM, April 30 (AP) — Twenty German soldiers and one officer were caught by a German patrol boat trying to escape in a fishing smack from Helsingor in Denmark to Sweden, Saturday, and subsequently were executed, the Free Danish press service declared today.

As a consequence, the German Helsingor garrison has been restricted to quarters and relieved of weapons, the report added.

"Poor", Leaves $14,000

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 30 (AP)—Dan Harmer, deputy public administrator, reported today that William Mager, 87, Indian fighter, who was found dead in his cabin at suburban Fallbrook April 25, left cash and stocks valued at more than $14,000. Friends believed him penniless.

Elton C. Fay Says:

Weakened Luftwaffe Still Capable Of Putting Up Strong Opposition

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press War Analyst

The reaction of the German fighter plane force to the latest American air attack on Berlin gives dramatic emphasis to the contention of responsible Allied leaders that while the Luftwaffe is weakening the Nazis still can muster plenty of planes to put up stiff opposition when an emergency impels their use.

The hundreds of enemy fighters that swarmed up Saturday to challenge the American bombing force boring in for Berlin certainly suggests that the Nazis looked on that situation as an emergency.

Opposition Moderate

For the week preceding Saturday, air opposition to the continuous operations by the Allied air fleets based in England and Italy had been moderate. On Wednesday, 2,000 Allied planes worked over Nazi installations, factories and other targets without hindrance from the air.

But the Saturday raid of 2,000 planes on the Reich's capital goaded the enemy into putting his fighters aloft. In the resultant air battle, sixty-three American bombers and fourteen fighters went down; eighty-eight enemy ships were knocked out of the air.

Obviously, the Nazis don't like this sort of thing. They want to husband their air strength against the day of invasion, even though that parsimonious policy means more bomb craters in their industrial area.

London Jittery Over Invasion

Terrific Strain Noted in City

By DON WHITEHEAD

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—London has a case of nerves—invasion jitters—caused by the terrific strain of waiting—waiting for the great Allied blow against Hitler's fortress.

London has waited almost four years for the day that is approaching when British, American and Canadian troops will swarm across the beaches to batter at German defenses.

Now the remaining period of waiting is imposing a heavy burden on nerves already worn by years of conflict, by savage air blitzes, by retreats and defeats and slow turning of the tide to the point where the man in the street could see a hope of final victory.

People Show Strain

The newcomer to London senses the strain of the invasion wait in watching the hurrying crowds on the streets, seeing faces in the subway with that little drawn look about the eyes and mouths, and hearing explosive arguments which break out with the slightest provocation.

And the contrast between the faces of people on the streets in the United States and London is startling. On the sidewalks of New York, Washington, Los Angeles or in small towns, people's faces have not become marked by the long strain of the war. Even in their hurry they seem relaxed, without the restlessness which is found here.

The awareness of the impending invasion has been forced on the people in many ways during these past few weeks, particularly in the non-stop pounding of Europe's invasion defenses by American and British air forces and in tightening security measures.

Under Heavy Pressure

Londoners know the pressures of the last few months have put an added strain on nerves, and they will be glad when "it" happens. "It" always means the invasion.

"It's this way, 'guv'nor," a cab driver explained. "This is like waiting for your wife to have her first baby. And there's nothing to do but wait."

That probably is the simplest explanation of how the average man feels about invasion jitters. But there likewise is a sense of satisfaction that the hour of decision is approaching; that the end of long and bitter fighting is in sight, and that the enemy's nerves must be frayed far more than their own by constant aerial pounding and the threat of invasion which hangs over them day and night.

Real Democrats Watching Florida

Hope for Defeat Of Sen. Pepper

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—Anti-New Deal Democrats, intent on stopping a fourth term if they can, may gauge their chances of establishing an effective third party in the South by what happens to be Senator Claude Pepper's bid for renomination in Florida's Democratic primary Tuesday.

The battle four opponents are putting up to force Pepper, a staunch supporter of President Roosevelt's foreign and domestic policies, into a runoff is being watched closely by a group which may take the initiative in launching an independent Democratic party in Dixie if the signs are right.

Pepper on the Spot

A Southern senator interested in the movement, who asked that his name be withheld, predicted that if Pepper fails to gain a clear majority in the first primary and then is defeated in a runoff, there will be an immediate public effort to bring together all of the dissident Democrats of the South in a convention to launch a new party of their own.

Conversely, if Pepper wins handily and thus demonstrates that the "support-the-president" plea he has used in his campaign still has great vote-pulling power, this senator said

Russians Plead For Second Front

Time Has Arrived, Writer Declares

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 30 (AP) — An anonymous writer in the newspaper Pravda, issuing the first press call for an Allied "second front" since the Teheran conference, declared today Russia had fulfilled its pledges and would continue to inflict increasing blows on Germany, but added "it is time for a blow from the west."

Pravda's "observer" said the United States and Britain now had "quite sufficient" forces massed to hit Germany a staggering blow and thus accelerate peace.

Wonder About Delay

"In England and the United States," he said "many witnesses of intensified preparations of the Anglo-American military forces are wondering what is delaying more decisive operations."

This declaration came as all Russia celebrated the eve of the twenty-first anniversary of May Day under Soviet rule.

(A May Day order of the day signed by Russia's far Eastern front commander, Col. Gen. M. Purkayev, told those troops closest to Japan to "keep a sharp eye on your post," said a Khabarovsk radio broadcast recorded by U. S. government monitors.

Japan Not Mentioned

(No specific mention of Japan or any direct Japanese threat to Russia was contained in the May Day order which told of the Russian, American, and British struggle against Germany and said "the day of the final rout of Hitlerite Germany is approaching.")

Pravda's call for a western invasion was contained in a lengthy war review telling of the breakdown of Finnish-Russian peace negotiations, the situation in Romania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Stalin Credits Allies with Aid Against Germany

Asks for Early Combined Blow

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

LONDON, April 30, (AP)—Premier Marshal Stalin in a triumphant May Day order broadcast from Moscow tonight acknowledged the "considerable contribution" of America and Britain to Russia's victories but declared, "there can be no doubt that only a combined blow can crush Hitlerite Germany completely."

Deliverance of the Poles, Czecho-Slavaks and others whom he described as brothers in bondage, "can be accomplished only by the joint efforts of the Soviet Union, Great Britain and the United States of America," he said, "by joint blows from the east dealt by our troops and from the west by troops of our Allies."

His order, broadcast from Moscow and recorded by the Soviet monitor in London shortly before midnight, said:

"The peoples of our country greet May 1 in the midst of outstanding successes of the Red army. Since the defeat of the German divisions at Stalingrad (Feb. 1, 1943) the Red army has been conducting a practically incessant offensive.

"The Red army has made a fighting advance from the Volga to the Siret, from the foothills of the Caucasus to the Carpathians, exterminating the enemy vermin and sweeping it out of the Soviet land."

After listing a long string of Russian victories, he continued, "tens of millions of Soviet people have been delivered from Fascist slavery. Acting in the great cause of liberation of our native land from the fascist invaders, the Red army has emerged on our state frontiers with Romania and Czecho-Slovakia and now continues battering enemy troops on the territory of Romania.

"A considerable contribution to these successes has been made by our great allies, the United States of America and Great Britain, which hold the front in Italy against the Germans and divert a considerable part of German troops from us and supply us with very valuable strategic raw materials and armaments, subject to systematic bombardments military objectives in Germany and thus undermine the German military might."

Germans Spreading Germs among Red Prisoners of War

MOSCOW, April 30 (AP)—A Soviet State commission investigating atrocities declared today the Germans spread typhus among Red army prisoners and civilians in special infection camps last February and March.

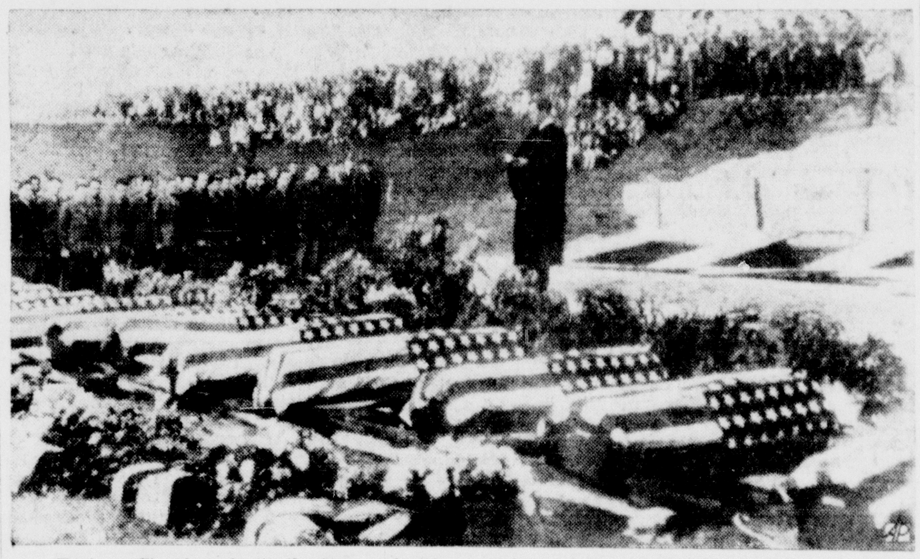
The camps were described as fenced-off open areas in which the Germans were accused of installing several thousand men, women and children and moving in other thousands suffering from contagious typhus.

The commission, which blamed the German government, supreme commander and commanders of certain units, published pictures of persons living in the open surrounded by dead and dying.

Churchill Praises Knox

LONDON, April 30 (AP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in a tribute today to Frank Knox, secretary of the United States navy who died Friday, said "no one could have been more forthcoming and helpful in all our difficult times than this distinguished American statesman and war administrator."

SWISS BURY AMERICAN FLIERS WITH MILITARY HONORS



Twelve coffins draped with the Stars and Stripes rest in a cemetery at Munsingen, Switzerland, during the burial with full military honors of American fliers killed in action or crashes. A theological student, Tracy Strong, Jr., a native of Seattle and former resident of New York, stands in center to read invocation. Interned American aviators stand at left. In rear is a Swiss rifle platoon with some Swiss civilian onlookers. This picture was taken by one of the United States internees, Lt. Thomas Carver of Alamada, Calif., and radioed from Bern to New York.

Jungle Mopping Up Jap Soldiers

Many Found Dead From Starvation

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS

FIFTH AIRFORCE HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, April 27 (Delayed) (AP)—The jungle is doing the mopping up for Allied soldiers who cut off the Japanese in New Guinea. Death overtook many of the enemy before the Americans and Australians got to them.

Seven American fliers, who were forced to abandon their Liberator high over the rugged Finnisterre mountains on the Huon peninsula and who wandered for eight days to the coast, gave a picture of the enemy's plight today.

Find Japs Starving

Lt. Robert C. Stone of Martinsville, Va., pilot of the bomber, said he came upon many native villages that had been blasted by Japanese grenades—as the starved Nipponese hunted for food.

Stone reported he saw the skeletons of many natives in their torn villages and gardens and that the natives obviously were shy of white men.

The pilot, who tried to stick to valleys and make his way to the coast after he parachuted from 18,000 feet above Yupakadap mountain and landed on the 13,000-foot peak in a snowstorm, said the Kewieng river valley was strewn with the bodies of Japanese.

Some Commit Suicide

Some of them died of jungle diseases, others had slipped off cliffs when they lost their footing, some had made suicide leaps and still others had starved to death.

Sgt. James W. Richmond, of Mullens, W. Va., who jumped at the same place as Stone, said he saw around 200 Japanese bodies, some dead less than three days.

"The natives were very much frightened and said that the Japs had been killing them with grenades right and left," Richmond reported. "Once, when my clothes became wet from the snow," he went on, "I took them off to let them dry. Suddenly a bunch of natives brandishing all kinds of knives and spears surrounded me and started to charge. Then they saw that I was white and gave me some food."

Nazis Burn Villages

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—The Germans are burning villages and slaughtering their inhabitants in a campaign of pillage and destruction up and down the Bihac-Knin railway forty miles inland from the Adriatic port of Split, a Yugoslav Partisan communique from Marshal Tito (Josip Broz) declared today.

Yanks Learning How To Speak German

LONDON, April 30 (AP) — The American army forces' radio network, which has been teaching Yanks how to "parlez vous francaise," started them on German lessons today.

This new series will contain German phrases which, as the newspaper Stars and Stripes commented, "might come in handy in the future."

How near in the future it didn't say.

U. S. Inaugurates Invasion Talks

Tells Continent D-Day Is Near

By EDWARD D. BALL

LONDON, April 30 (AP) — The United States inaugurated its pre-invasion broadcasts to Europe from troop-jammed Britain today with a message to the conquered people that their day of liberation is "not far distant," and that the Germans soon will "really learn what overwhelming force can be."

"In this great historic year of 1944 the Allied radio will bring you

Huge Pipe Line Ready To Operate

Canadian-American Project Completed

WHITEHORSE, YUKON TERRITORY, April 30—(AP)—Canol, the $130,000,000 American-financed oil project in Northern Canada, now is ready to begin delivering fuel for the Allied war machine.

Before a distinguished gathering of Canadian and American officials the Whitehorse refinery, linked by 595 miles of four-inch, above-ground pipeline to the oil source at Fort Norman, N.W.T., was opened officially today.

Completion of the project, which ranks with the 1,523-mile Alaskan highway as one of the great engineering feats in Canada's war-opened northwest, was the culmination of twenty-two months of work by thousands of Canadians and Americans.

Praised by King

Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King in a message read at the opening ceremonies in this historic gold-rush town, said, "Canol stands as one more example of United States-Canadian co-operation."

His message was to Brig. Gen. Ludson D. Worsham, commanding general of the northwest service command and the man responsible for construction of the project. It was read at the ceremonies by Maj. Gen. W. W. Foster, special commissioner for defense projects in northwest Canada.

1,500 Miles of Pipes

The project consists of the wells at Norman Wells, construction of a road and pipeline from the field to the refinery, a 1,500-mile network of pipelines for distribution of the refined products, a power plant dismantled and shipped from Hamilton, Ont., pump stations and storage tanks.

MacArthur Out As a Candidate

Says He Refuses To Be Considered

By HOWARD FLIEGER

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's blunt rejection of an attempt to draft him into a presidential race narrowed the field of Republican possibilities today and pushed further into the background any chance that a "dark horse" nominee might emerge from the party's Chicago convention.

The general himself killed the draft-MacArthur move with this flat statement from his Pacific headquarters:

Wouldn't Accept Nomination

"I request that no action be taken that would link my name in any way with the nomination. I do not covet it nor would I accept it."

For the most part MacArthur boosters and opponents alike received the news in silence. But in Chicago, Joseph P. Savage, head of the MacArthur-for-President clubs announced the organization will abide by the general's wishes.

Many of MacArthur's most ardent advocates had been viewing him chiefly as a dark horse possibility who might come to the front in the event the Chicago convention approached anything like a deadlock. But some of them have been conceding frankly, though privately, that such a development grew more remote with each new delegate Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York added to his long lead in pledged and claimed convention votes.

Dewey Far in Front

MacArthur's announcement trimmed the Republican lists to four visible party-wide possibilities and several "favorite sons," some of them with potent backing for a place on the GOP ticket. Among the latter are Gov. Earl Warren of California, the convention keynoter, and Govs. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Simeon S. Willis of Kentucky.

Dewey, who has not given public sanction to the campaign in his behalf, is far in front of the pre-convention field with 228 claimed and pledged delegate votes. Lt. Com. Harold E. Stassen has 34 claimed and pledged.

Neither Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio nor Rep. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, the two avowed aspirants, has any pledged votes so far but Bricker's supporters say he will have 257 in his column by convention time. It takes 530 to nominate.

Anti-Invasion Area in France Heavily Bombed

Daylight Raids Do Much Damage

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON, May 1 (AP)—A force of 3,000 Allied planes which included about 1,000 heavy American bombers and their fighter escorts attacked German anti-invasion targets in France yesterday, and RAF bombers streamed across the English channel last night, evidently carrying the historic air offensive into the month of May.

German airdromes, coastal defenses and railyards in France were the targets of the daylight raids, spearheaded by three American task forces of Fortresses and Liberators. The Black RAF night raiders were spotted heading toward the continent shortly before German radios began going off the air, giving the first indication that the Allied air assaults were being continued around the clock, after a record-breaking April offensive.

One Heavy Bomber Lost

Streams of planes thundered across the channel throughout the day—the sixteenth straight day of history's greatest sustained air assaults. Only one heavy bomber and four fighters were lost in the operations, in contrast to the sixty-three bombers and fourteen fighters which failed to return from yesterday's 2,000-ton hammering of Berlin.

Formations believed to include heavy bombers were seen crossing the channel this evening, indicating anti-invasion targets in France were being still pounded. The Vichy radio said Allied formations flew over the Alps and the Danube at about 7:30 p. m., suggesting that targets in Austria might be under attack by Italybased planes.

Berlin Goes Off Air

The Budapest radio later warned that air raiders were approaching the Hungarian capital. Perhaps illustrative of its fear of night operations, the Berlin radio announced it was going off the air "for technical reasons" for ten hours, from 9 p. m., German time, to 7 a. m. This was one of the longest periods of silence it has ever announced.

Three airfields in Northern France and Central France were bombed and shot up by Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs in a late afternoon attack, that encountered no oppositnon. Still other Thunderbolt fighter-bombers returned to Northern France at dusk to bomb railyards in the Arras Cambrai area without loss, while Marauders and Havocs, in their second operation of the day, attacked railways at Somain Bethune and Busigny in France shortly before dark. RAF Mitchells, Bostons and Mosquitos also bombarded French railyards.

Added today to yesterday's toll of eighty - eight German planes wrecked in air combat, were twenty-five more German fighters, plus a number of others destroyed on the ground.

Stettinius Holding Conference in Africa

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—Edward R. Stettinius, undersecretary of state, is now in North Africa conferring with W. Averell Harriman, ambassador to Russia, and Robert Murphy, American political adviser on the staff of the Allied commander in the Mediterranean.

Stettinius is on his way home from London where he has discussed a long list of war and post-war problems with the British government.

Farm Home Destroyed

FREDERICK, Md., April 30 (AP)—Fire, believed to have started in a kitchen chimney destroyed the fourteen-room farm home of Mrs. Paul B. Rosencrantz near Urbana today.

Allied Sea and Airforces Attack Japanese Bases West of Hollandia

By SPENCER DAVIS

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Monday, May 1, (AP)—Allied sea and air forces directed steadily-mounting attacks against Japanese air bases immediately west of conquered Hollandia, with emphasis particularly on the Schouten Islands just to the north of big Geelvink Bay, Gen. Douglas MasArthur reported today.

Making their longest raid from New Guinea bases, Liberator bombers jumped Mokmer airstrip on Biak island, only 120 miles east of the enemy's stronghold of Manokwari, at mid-day.

A dozen Japanese planes attempted to head off the attack but lost three and probably five as the Liberators sent seventy-seven tons of bombs hurling into fuel dumps and parked enemy aircraft, wrecking at least fifteen.

Mississippi River Is Stationary After Reaching Top Mark for Years

[By The Associated Press]

The Mississippi river stage at St. Louis remained stationary for several hours today after reaching a crest of 39.1 feet, nearly two inches above the level reached last year on May 24 and about two feet less than the record high of 41.39 feet established in 1844.

Near Harrisonville, Ill., a levee failed early today to inundate an additional 30,000 acres of farmland in Illinois, bringing that state's total flooded acreage to approximately 650,000. The Red Cross reported approximately 562,000 acres under water in Missouri as the result of floods mainly along the Missouri and Mississippi rivers.

In Washington, Representative Cannon (D-Mo.) announced he would introduce a $10,000,000 flood relief bill tomorrow, based on reports received by him that flood conditions in Missouri are "the worst in a hundred years."

Soviet Bombers Attack German Railroad Junction Near Latvia

LONDON, April 30—(AP)—Soviet bombers attacking Idrista rail junction near the Latvian border and a nearby airdrome last night touched off big fires and explosions, Moscow announced tonight in a bulletin which said the land front lull had entered its second week without any important changes.

The communique did not mention any operations at besieged Sevastopol in the Crimea, where Berlin said German forces had beaten off local Red army attacks on land and destroyed a Soviet motor boat at sea.

In the last fifteen days Russian naval planes operating at Sevastopol and on the sea escape lanes to Romania have sunk sixty-one Axis ships, twenty-four of them transports totalling more than 55,000 tons, said Capt. Ivan Pilatov in the Moscow news.

This tightening of the blockade in Sevastopol does not include large numbers of motor barges, patrol boats, launches, minesweepers and enemy chasers which were sunk, and if the present tempo continues it won't be long before the enemy "is deprived of his entire Black sea shipping," Pilatov said.

Crops Should Be Grown Full Season For Best Results

County Agent Gives Six Reasons for Planting Victory Gardens

Gardeners should arrange their planting so that something will be growing in their gardens from early April until mid-November, Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said yesterday in discussing reasons why Allegany county residents should co-operate in the victory garden program.

Planting a spring garden alone, McHenry said, means victory gardeners are not getting the greatest benefit from their efforts and means that the food plant is idle half the year. In addition, he pointed out, the fall garden is probably more important in Allegany county than earlier gardens although both are necessary in achieving the victory garden goal of more "Food for Freedom."

The present quota for Allegany county is 12,000 or more victory gardens, McHenry said, presenting six reasons why gardens should be planted.

Eases Labor Situation

The first reason, he explained, is that food grown in a victory garden does not require vital transportation or labor to pack and handle it for shipment into this county. It eases the pressure on materials needed for war purposes.

A second argument McHenry put forth is that victory gardens utilize land and manpower that otherwise might not be productively employed. People otherwise employed, he added, can use part of their spare time in gardening.

For the third reason, McHenry said, a victory garden brings food to the table in a fresh and nutritious form and enables the gardener to provide food for the winter months by home-canning, thus easing the pressure on some rationed food supplies.

As a fourth reason, McHenry said, the victory gardener by growing a major portion of his own food releases food for the armed forces and America's allies.

Vital War Work

That victory gardening is vital war work McHenry gave as his fifth reason. The victory garden movement in Allegany county and in the nation has enlisted an army of millions of men, women and children, he pointed out, and they are doing vital war work by helping the farmers of the country increase the food supply at a time when every ounce of food is needed. This is important not only for that fact alone, he said, but because it is having an incalculable effect on the morale of everyone who works in a garden.

As his final reason, McHenry said that working in a victory garden is a healthful pursuit, taking persons out in the open air and sunshine, providing for some a desirable amount of exercise and as well resulting in a peace of mind associated with doing something for the war effort.

Capper Will Take Oath as Judge of Court of Appeals

Chief Judge Walter C. Capper, of the Fourth judicial circuit, will be sworn in tomorrow as an associate judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals, by Gov. O'Conor, in a ceremony in the executive mansion at 10 a. m.

Judge Capper was appointed by the governor to succeed D. Lindley Sloan as chief judge, and he automatically becomes a member of the state court of appeals. He will remain in Annapolis all week for session of the court.

Re-Inspection Depots Designated Here

The local War Price and Rationing Board has designated seven re-inspection depots where truck tires will be given through inspections necessary for replacements, Karl Radcliffe, chief clerk of the board, announced Saturday.

Radcliffe said a drive is now underway to see that every possible mile is gotten out of each truck tire, and added the re-inspection depots are equipped to give a searching inspection of each truck tire.

Places designated as re-inspection depots are: United Accessories; B. F. Goodrich store; Hawkins Tread Service; Steinla Motors; Goodyear store; Montgomery Ward store, and the Kelly Springfield Tire Company store.

William Green Will Speak Here May 24

Paul W. England, general convention chairman, of the Maryland and District of Columbia Federation of Labor, announced Saturday that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has accepted an invitation to speak at a mass meeting here May 24.

Other speakers at the mass meeting in the state armory will be Gov. O'Conor and Daniel J. Tracey, assistant secretary of labor. A parade will precede the mass meeting.

Mercury Jumps to 83

Old Sol beamed his brightest of the season yesterday and the mercury in the theermometer atop city hall zoomed to eighty-three degrees for the highest mark of the year.

PRODUCTION WORKERS OF COUNTY RED CROSS CHAPTER SET RECORD

Members of the Production committee of the Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, set a new record in production of hospital articles in the month of April, Mrs. Jim McQuown, production chairman, said last night.

In the past thirty days, Mrs. McQuown said members of her committee produced 1,056 separate hospital articles such as lap covers, stretcher pads, shoes and the like, and devoted 9,241 hours to the work.

Although past figures were not immediately available, Mrs. McQuown said the work in April more than doubled anything done in the past.

She pointed out, however, that a new production program is to be started this week and that under this project the making of lap covers and stretcher pads will be eliminated.

Earlier this week Mrs. McQuown will visit various chairmen of branch production committees in the county and outline the new program to them.

13 Board 2 Men Will Enter Army

Thirteen registrants of Local Board No. 2, who were accepted for army service after pre-induction examinations, left Cumberland early Saturday by Blue Ridge bus for Fort George G. Meade to begin active army training, P. Emmett Fahey, chief clerk, announced yesterday.

Jack Yankelevitz, 502 North Centre street, is acting corporal of the group which includes Henry Clifton Garbee, assistant manager of the local branch of Armour and Company, and John Thomas Topper, Hanover, Pa., manager of the Hanover Cut Rate Shoe Store and a former employe of the local shoe store.

Also included in the army contingent are William M. George, 207 Cole street; Howard M. Bender, 725 Fairmont avenue; Guy S. Maphis, 514 Washington street; Richard William Paul, 405 Columbia street; Frederick D. Thompson, 400 Hill street.

Ellis E. Sullivan, Martinsburg (transferred to Martinsburg board for induction); John E. Cooper, 924 Bedford street; Robert E. Stallings, 15 Market street; James K. Carbaugh, 709 Princeton street, and Lewis William Allen, 406 Chestnut street.

Six Births Are Reported in Hospitals

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Rice, 208 Piedmont avenue, announce the birth o fa daughter yesterday morning in Allegany hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller, 223 Baltimore avenue, yesterday morning in Allegany hospital.

Mr. and Brs. Roy Litton, 411 Springdale street, announce the birth of a son Saturday morning in Allegany hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carmen P. Buckbee, Romney, W. Va., Saturday morning in Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Borrda, 136 Bedford street, announce the birth of a son last evening in Memorial hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Smith, Artemas, Pa., yesterday afternoon in Memorial hospital.

Two Motorists Fined; One Forfeits Bond

Fined $2 in police court Saturday on a charge of careless driving, Henry V. Sirbaugh, 1014 Ella avenue, was later taken to trial magistrates' court where he was fined $1.75 on a charge of using tags issued to another car. He was arrested on Virginia avenue by Officer C. J. Stouffer, who informed state police of the latter charge.

Michael E. Flanigan, Mt. Savage, forfeited a $10 bond in police court Saturday on a charge of careless driving. He was arrested by officer Stouffer.

Curtis L. Owen, 531 O'Neal street, arrested by State Trooper M. G. Hart at Narrows Park, was fined $2 and costs Saturday in trial magistrates' court on a charge of using an expired driver's permit.

Motorist Accused Of Careless Driving

Leonard Knoche, 1305 Frederick street, will face a charge of careless driving in police court today as a result of his arrest at 7:30 p. m. yesterday by Officer J. Carl Stouffer.

Police said the youth was speeding on Bedford street when he noticed the officer trailing him, parked his car and fled. He was later taken into custody at his home. Knoche posted bond of $5.

William Thorp, 406 Central avenue, also will be given a hearing in police court this morning on a charge of careless driving. Police said Thorp was speeding on Wineow street. He was arrested at 3:55 p. m. yesterday by Officer John W. Snyder.

Engineer Is Injured

J. T. Harrison, 113 South Smallwood street, Western Maryland Railway passenger engineer, was slightly injured Wednesday when he was thrown from the cab of his engine in the yards here. X-rays will be taken to determine the extent of injuries to his left arm and head.

Central Glee Club To Give Matinee

First of Two Shows Will Be Held Today at 2 p. m. in Carroll Hall

A matinee performance of the Catholic Girls Central High Glee Club spring dance festival will be precented today at 2 p. m., in Carroll hall, North Centre street for school children and others unable to attend the regular performance tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Fifty-seven members of the glee club and seventeen members of the orchestra staged a dress rehearsal at the hall yesterday afternoon and made a favorable impression on those in attendance.

Glee club numbers include "Ave Maria," "Spring Greeting," "Dear Land of Freedom," "Giannina Mia," "The Top O' the Mornin' to Ye," "A Little Bit of Heaven," "Danny Boy," "The Lord's Prayer," "Nightfall" and "Say a Prayer for the Boys over There."

Orchestra selections include "Kammennoi-Ostrow," "Beauties of Erin" overture, "Dance of the Hours," and the current popular number David Rose's "Holiday for Strings."

Several Irish Specialty numbers round out a well arranged program. Elizabeth Mattingly is especially good with her rendition of the lively Irish tune "It's the Same Old Shillelagh."

The festival is staged in an Irish setting which includes a large black backdrop, featuring "Erin Go Bragh" in large letters graced by shamrocks, harps and white clay pipes.

Sister Aquinette arranged and directs the entire program and is accompanist for all of the numbers.

Primary Voting Will Be Light

Little Interest In Few Contests

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Marylanders voted today to select their party nominees to represent the state in the United States Senate and the House of Representatives, and to express a preference in a somewhat confusing presidential primary contest.

A primary campaign which for the most part was dull and listless ended up in a flood of oratory over the weekend, climaxed by a plea from Governor O'Conor that Democratic voters nominate United States Senator Millard E. Tydings to succeed himself.

The governor had previously announced his intention to support Tydings, whose principal opponent in today's primary was Willis R. Jones of Baltimore, but yesterday's broadcast address was his only major political speech of the campaign.

In addition to nominations for Tydings' seat in the upper branch of the congress, the state's six seats in the lower house—four of them now held by Democrats and two by Republicans—were also at issue.

Republican voters also were called on to express a preference for a Maryland delegation to the party's national convention which would be pledged to Wendell L. Willkie or be uninstructed.

Chairman Galen L. Tait of the State Central committee, as well as other Republican leaders, had urged that the minority party voters support an uninstructed delegation.

Approximately 590,000 Democrats, and 265,000 Republicans were qualified to vote, but all political observers were agreed that the vote would be extremely light—probably between fifteen and twenty per cent of the registration.

Three men sought the right to oppose the Democratic nominee for Tydings' seat in November. They were Blanchard Randall, Jr., Baltimore banker; Paul Robertson, chairman of the City Central Republican committee; and Rives Matthews, Princess Anne weekly newspaper publisher.

Real Democrats

the third party movement probably will collapse. He said Pepper's smashing primary victory over four opponents in 1938 did much to rejuvenate administration supporters in the Senate at a time when many of them had left the New Deal was on the political downgrade.

Earl Attempts Fail

There have been several attempts already to instigate a revolt among Southern Democrats by those who are opposed to a fourth term but most of the maneuvering has been done by political neophytes whose success has not been marked.

Thus far such experienced leaders as James A. Farley, the New York state chairman, have withheld public support, although Farley has told friends he will vote against a fourth term at Chicago and may let his name go before the convention as an opposition nominee to make his position clear.

An organization headed by John U. Barr, New Orleans rope manufacturer, has been trying to drum up interest in a ticket headed by Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, with Farley or some one else as a vice presidential candidate, without any public support from Byrd. A Byrd for president slate of delegates is running in the Florida primary but since the Virginian has said he is not a candidate only an unexpected victory for an appreciable number of them would be considered significant. The voters will choose eighteen Democratic convention delegates.

tremendous news," said Robert F. Sherwood, director of the Office of War Information's overseas operations, on opening the program of "Absie" — American Broadcasting Station in Europe.

"Not Far Distant"

"And the day is not far distant when your own radio stations will be free to tell you the truth instead of the tremendous lies of the Nazi collaborationists and Quislings."

Then a word of caution to underground workers in France and "all countries, including Germany and the satellites," Sherwood added:

"Do not be premature. Do not reveal yourselves until the proper time. Remember we shall give you the signal when the hour comes for you to rise up against the enemy and strike.

"Until then be cautious, be discreet. Your lives are valuable to the Allied cause. Your gallant services will be needed for the hard fighting that must be done and for the recovery and reconstruction of your countries.

Warned Against Trickery

"Listen to the Allied radio for word that will come from the supreme commanders, General Eisenhower in the west, General (Sir Henry Maitland) Wilson in the south. Do not be tricked into premature action by Nazi lies or deception."

Declaring that "the Germans believe in the doctrine of overwhelming force," Sherwood said: "And now they will really learn what overwhelming force can be. Great Russian armies attacking from the east; great Allied armies and navies attacking from the west and south will end forever the shameful chapter of Nazi tyranny."

Japs Plan New Drive for Imphal

Invasion of India Nearing Climax

By THOBURN WIANT

SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, April 30 (AP)—The Japanese are believed to be girding for an all-out attack of Imphal, main Allied base on the plain of Manipur in Eastern India, in a desperate attempt to prevent collapse of their invasion of India, Allied headquarters announced today.

Having sustained 1,500 casualties around Kohima alone in the fortnight ending April 27, and suffering from deteriorating supplies, the Japanese must either attack or withdraw, said an Allied review of operations, indicating that attack was the likely course because the invasion has been too loudly ballyhooed for it to be readily abandoned.

Allies Cut Jap Lines

Another Allied announcement reported a British force driving down from the north had cut the Japanese northern exit from Kohima and wiped out a Japanese column bound south with food for the hard-pressed Japanese garrison at Kohima.

(The situation in and around Kohima was not clearly defined. The Japanese claimed on April 6 and subsequently that they had captured the town sixty miles north of Imphal, but this was not confirmed by the Allies. References in this dispatch to a Japanese garrison at Kohima and to an exit route being cut left the condition of the Kohima battlefront somewhat obscure. Other Allied accounts have indicated, however, that the Japanese never captured Kohima itself but won positions close around it.)

British Near Kohima

The British attackers around Kohima split the Japanese forces guarding the enemy's right flank and pushed within a mile and a half of the village of Kohima. This village, the strongest Japanese bastion in the area, is about a mile west of main town of Kohima. The British were supported by tanks which drove five miles under the noses of the Japanese artillery to join up with a second British party.

The Allied communique said operations to complete reduction of enemy points of resistance in the outskirts of the town of Kohima "made satisfactory progress."

In the Imphal area the Allies also reported success, including capture of a Japanese position overlooking the Bishenpur trail and holding of it against two enemy counter-attacks.

Pen-Mar League Will Meet Soon

An effort to re-organize the Pen-Mar Baseball League for the 1944 season will be made at a meeting here this week, it was announced last night by Howard "Farmer" Northcraft, president of the loop the last two years.

Announcement of the day, time and place of the meeting will be made either today or tomorrow, Northcraft said. Two Queen City Brewer team officials, C. A. Smith and Charley Doyle, will assist Northcraft in organization details.

"Our league, if it goes through, will play weekend and holiday games," Northcraft said. "We have sent invitations to fellows who have been connected with teams in Mt. Savage, Eckhart, Rainsburg, Centerville, Wellersburg and the Tri-Towns Westvaco outfit. We would also like to have Frostburg, Lonaconing, Midland, Barton and other teams represented at our first meeting."

Commercial League Rolloff Scheduled

Top honors in the Commercial Bowling League will be at stake Wednesday night at 7:30 when Eiler Chevrolet pinmen and the B. and O. Bolt and Forge crew meet in a five-game, total-pin match on the Savoy lanes.

The Chevrolet outfit won the first half while the last half ended in a tie as the result of the Forgers' 2-1 victory over the Eiler team in the closing match last week. The rolloff will be for both the last half title and the season's championship.

In last week's match, "Red" Clites had 505 for Chevrolet and G. Sachs 497 and Walter Cox 487 for the Forgers.

Casey Tossers To Play Three Games This Week

Knights of Columbus tossers, of the Rocking Chair Softball League, who lost 9-5 to the Woodmen of the World in a practice game Friday on the Fort Hill diamond, will play three exhibition contests this week.

The Caseys will meet the Celanese Stars at 5:30 this evening at Fort Hill, oppose the Broadway All-Stars tomorrow evening at Campobello, and tangle with the F. O. Eagles at Community park Thursday.

Eagles To Drill

The F. O. Eagles, of the Rocking Chair Softball eLague, will practice this evening at 6:30 on the North End Playground field.

Yankees Defeat Senators Twice

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—The New York Yankees twice defeated the Washington Senators, 2-1 and 3-2 in a Sunday twin-bill today.

A crowd of 31,057 fans, largest turnout of the season so far here, watched the game.

Ernie Bonham turned in a five-hit masterpiece in the opener while his mates were combing Mickey Haefner's offerings for nine blows. The Yanks counted both their runs in the first inning on hits by George Stirnweiss, Tuck Stainback, Don Savage and Johnny Lindell. A New York error, a stolen base by George Case and George Myatt's blow give Washington a run in the ninth.

The Senators blasted Southpaw Joe Page from the mound in the seventh inning of the nightcap during a two-run rally. Hank Borowy quelled the uprising.

The Yanks nicked Early Wynn for eight blows in the finale, three of them by Bud Metheny. Washington clipped Page for a like number of hits. The Yanks counted twice in the first on singles by Metheny and Nick Etten, Johnny Sullivan's error and a pair of walks. In the fifth, Metheny led off with a single and circled the sacks on Don Savage's one baser and an outfield fly. The scores:

Shirt Factory Employes Are Still on Strike

Workers Walked Out on April 10 in Dispute over Quotas

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., April 30—The Meyersdale Manufacturing Company's shirt factory plant has entered the third week of the walkout of the employees. The pressers, dissatisfied over quotas, walked out Monday, April 10, and the remainder of approximately 300 employees, struck in sympathy the following day.

Some time ago the workers at the factory struck for a week in protest of the War Labor Board's failure to approve a proposed increase. It was represented that the increase had been agreed upon by representatives of the Amalgamated Garment Workers Union and the management, but that approval was being held up by the WLB.

Superintendent John Conville stated that the affair was out of his hands, and that he did not know what progress was being made toward a settlement or when the union could be expected to call off the strike. It is understood that a meeting of the union officials and the workers will be held Wednesday afternoon in an effort to settle the strike.

President Baskind is ill at his home in New York, and was therefore unable to be here to help straighten out the trouble.

Frank Zehner Is Bitten by Mad Dog in Garrett

More Rigid Enforcement To Remove Stray Animals Is Urged

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, April 30—Dr. Theodore R. Shrop, county health officer, has announced that the stray dog which bit Frank Zehner, of near Grantsville, last week, in the blacksmith shop of Daniel Klotz, Grantsville, definitely had rabies, and that Zehner was undergoing Pasteur treatment from Dr. N. R. Davis, Grantsville.

Dr. Shrop said that two persons were attacked. Zehner had the skin broken on one of his legs while the animal merely tore the clothing of another man standing nearby by the name of Bittinger. Dr. Shrop added that the dog was a stray and was not known in the community.

Dog Is Killed

The health officer said that Zehner, using Klotz's shotgun, killed the animal a short time after he had been bitten, but that the dog had been carried to an out-of-the-way place and dropped. Dr. W. M. Reynolds, veterinarian, hearing of the case two days later, removed the head and sent it to state officials and the diagnosis showed that the dog had rabies.

The case served to bring forcibly to the people what the Livestock Sanitary Service wrote a few days ago to the county commissioners concerning the danger existing throughout the state as the result of the large number of stray dogs. The service suggested a more rigid enforcement to remove the number of stray dogs in the county to prevent possible spread of the disease.

Watch Animals Closely

Dr. Shrop advised that all pets or other livestock be watched carefully for evidence of acting in an unusual manner and if discovered, to keep the animal tied. The disease, which is fatal, attacks the brain and the heads of dead animals suspected of rabies, should be preserved, he pointed out, properly refrigerated, so it can be sent away for examination. If the animal is mad and penned up it will always die within two weeks after the onset of the disease and Dr. Shrop said this was plenty of time to start giving the Pasteur treatment to any person who has been bitten by the rabid animal.

Mad animals, especially dogs and foxes, are a problem in certain sections of the state and he urged all stray dogs and foxes to be eliminated.

Two Keyser Men Are Missing in African Area

Roy Davis and Donald McKee Unreported since April 20

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., April 30—Roy Davis, son of George R. Davis and Donald McKee, son of Mrs. D. D. McKee are reported missing in action in the African war area, since April 20 according to telegrams received from the War department, Saturday afternoon By Mr. Davis and Mrs. McKee.

Davis has one brother Richard Davis of Keyser and one sister Mrs. Dorothy Pay, Cumberland. Before entering the service about two years ago he was employed in the Potomac Valley hospital.

McKee also has a brother and sister Richard McKee of Keyser; Mrs. Raymond Murray of Hopemont. He has been in the service one year. He was formerly in the employ of the Celanese Corporation at Amcel.

Kight Services Held

Funeral services for Harry B. Kight were held in First Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Charles H. Gibboney, pastor of the church officiated. Interment was in Queens Point cemetery.

Pallbearers were Mr. Baurenschmitd and Charles Meister of Philadelphia, Pa.; J. Gibson Van-Meter of Elkins and George R. Davis, Fred Hamill and Dyke Shaffer of Keyser.

Negro Is Held

Lester Washington, a negro lad of 20, who was being held, charged with the theft of a car owned by the Woolf Milling company on April 24, was given a hearing before George C. Ludwig, Friday afternoon.

He pleaded guilty to the charge, and in default of $500 bail, was remanded to jail to await the action of the grand jury at its next session.

Cook Is Held

Friday afternoon Arthur Cook was arraigned before Judge Ludwig, charged with the theft of a stack of hay valued at $42, belonging to L. C. Kelley.

The case grew out of a dispute over the ownership of a certain stack of hay which had been sold by Edward Veach on the Thrush farm in Cabin Run district. It came out in the evidence that Veach had sold several hay stacks, among them one to Arthur Cook and another to L. C. Kelley.

In the controversy Kelley contended that Cook removed the stack that he (Kelley) had bought. Cook counter charged that he removed his own stack. The judge ruled that the evidence indicated that Cook was not entitled to the particular stack of hay that he had taken and held him under $200 bond for the action of the grand jury. His father, Tony Cook, signed the required bond and Arthur was released.

Banquet Is Held

The annual banquet of Potomac Valley chapter of Bridgewater College Alumni Association was served in the Old Homestead hotel in Burlington, Friday night. Attorney Ernest A. See, Keyser, was toastmaster. Prof. Morley J. Mayes, assistant president of Bridgewater college, Bridgewater, Virginia was chief speaker.

For the entertainment of the forty members and guests attending the following program was presented:

Vocal duet, Miss Dorothy Idleman and Mrs. J. Curtis Miller; readings, Miss Florena Evans; vocal solo, Miss Berkebile of Bridgewater college and two reels of motion pictures depicting some of the outstanding features of the college.

At the business session the Rev. A. R. Showalter, Keyser, was elected president to succeed the Rev. Norman Seese, Petersburg, and J. Curtis Miller, Burlington, was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Miss Dorothy Idleman, Mayesville.

The meeting closed with the entire group singing the Bridgewater college song.

Romney Girl To Be W. Va. Cover Girl

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 30—A pretty 21-year-old senior from Romney, W. Va., Mrs. Daphne (Saville) Kulakowski, wife of a former Mountaineer football ace, has been picked to represent West Virginia university in a nationwide "Cover Girl" contest being conducted by Columbia Pictures.

Mrs. Kulakowski, whose husband, "Big Ed" Kulakowski, is now in the U. S. Marines, was chosen at a "Cinderella Ball" staged in the University Armory here Friday night by the Student Council. She was selected by two representatives of film companies from fifty contestants, all West Virginia co-eds.

Mrs. Kulakowski, who said she had been successful in "one or two" beauty contests in her home section several years ago, showed charm as well as poise to win the votes of both judges last night. One of her previous triumphs was at Deep Creek Lake.

The picture of West Virginia's "Cover Girl" will be sent to New York City for final judging June 30 with the photographs of other winners. The national winner will receive an all-expense trip to New York, a screen test and a contract to model for Harry Conover.

Secretary Knox Not Easily Replaceable

SPECULATION is rife, naturally, as to who shall become the next secretary of the navy. The sudden and deplorable passing of Frank Knox came at a time when the fruits of victory on the seas had become apparent and so his loss to the nation is not either critical or crucial in that respect because his masterful executive ability had achieved with such amazing success that the goal had been brought into plain sight with the phenomenal growth of the navy and a competent personnel.

It will not be easy to replace this colorful, energetic and patriotic man, but the nation will hope that as good judgment will be exercised in the choice of his successor as was displayed in his selection.

Secretary Knox had a particularly warm spot among the Republicans of Maryland as well as all others who recognized his ability, foresight and tremendous energy. He spoke in his campaign at Hagerstown where many Alleganians heard him and conferred with him; and there his qualities of heart and mind were deeply impressed.

The nation has cause, indeed, to grieve over the loss of this leader because of his great achievement and to appreciate the fact that his contribution to the war was placed ahead of all other considerations despite the manifold obligations of his private affairs. He gave up everything to his public service, in which, as the president has said, he was really a war casualty by reason of the great tax on his physical and mental resources occasioned by the big task he set before him. It is regrettable, indeed, that he could not have lived long enough to participate in the final triumphs of the naval branch to which his talents had so magnificently contributed.

The Nazis Guess And Guess Again

A COMBINATION of wishful and fishful thinking seems to motivate Axis radio broadcasters these days, prompting them to predict invasion wherever it might conceivably come, then to wait for chance echoes to confirm their fearsome and bewildered surmises.

Enemy broadcasts heard in London said that heavy Anglo-American forces would land on the southern French coast as well as in Northern France. They reported that Allied troops were continuing to disembark in North Africa and considerable reinforcements were arriving at Anzio which "seemed out of proportion to the present activity and are doubtless linked with invasion plans." Other Nazi sources continue to venture daily opinions as to the day and hour when the invasion will be launched.

Apparently the Nazi Donald Ducks realize they have plenty to quack about. For once they are sure to hit some aspect of the truth, as they are striking out in all directions. This accentuated mike-frenzy is coming to a peak—but it will not get the Nazis even a buzzard's-eye view of the outline of things to come.

Much less can it avail the Axis to pose the hysterical threat that the Nazis will counter-attack at a point "utterly unexpected" by the Allies. This threat is unconvincing for the simple reason that the Fortress of Europe can hold out only insofar as it contains itself within the continent. This is apparent from the way the luftwaffe has been compelled to conserve itself from growing challenge. A German offensive defense can serve only to open breaches in the Fortress wall.

The invasion of Europe will be the most daring and ambitious military enterprise in the history of the world, but it has been planned accordingly. The beleaguered Master Race, it seems, can hardly wait.

Manufacture of Autos Wait on Victory

RESUMPTION of civilian car production depends entirely on military events and there is no immediate prospect of a changeover, according to the consensus of a conference between WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson and a group of executives representing the automotive industry as a WPB advisory committee. Discussions are taking place in Washington of a plan to reconvert from war to peacetime production.

Several manufacturers have urged that when reconversion comes the industry be permitted to start off with a quota of 2,000,000 cars a year, which is more than half the rate for 1941, when the industry produced 3,774,300 vehicles. In the 1929 peak production year 4,587,400 were turned out. Opposition apparently is fixed against any plan to produce a comparatively small number of civilian cars while the industry is largely engaged in war work.

Further patience, therefore, is required of the expectant car-buying public. The more challenging aspect of the problem is not the matter of supplying popular demand, however accentuated by the suspension of automobile-making, but the major economic consideration of readjusting automotive war production to peacetime production with a maximum conservation of employment, and with due regard also to the industrial complications of reconversion.

It definitely is agreed that government and industry should be prepared both for sudden collapse of the Axis and for a long transition period during which some passenger car production could be carried along with manufacture of war goods. The manpower situation in automobile centers is reported likely to improve considerably this year and there is a prospect that curtailment of war production may create a serious unemployment problem unless the reconversion plan is carefully set up.

Military developments will control reconversion planning, and in this regard the long-range view is the only safe one. Sudden collapse of the enemy would be welcome, whatever the economic implications. But the national economy will best be served by directing all energies toward forcing such a collapse by external assault with all available power—not by building on hopes of collapse from within.

Teacher Shrinkage A Serious Thing

ONE of the most disturbing dislocations of the war has come to light in the disclosure that there has been a sharp drop in enrollment in teachers' colleges and normal schools throughout the country.

It is a trend which may have a profound effect on postwar education in the United States. For if teachers are not available, classroom loads may be increased in the first instance, and qualifications overlooked in the second place.

The National Education Association gathered information from 148 institutions for training teachers. Total enrollment dropped from 98,169 in 1941 to 69,967 in 1943, a decrease of twenty-nine per cent. And the possibility remains that the total number in 1944 is even lower than the 1943 figure.

The draft, of course, has had a major role in this development, but, as the National Education Association found, there has also been the lure of "high wages and more glamorous activity in defense industries."

The picture is not one to be shrugged off lightly as simply another war development. The day is coming when the parents of the nation are going to be deeply concerned about the availability of qualified teachers. The concern of the nation's top-ranking school authorities is justified. And if any program can be devised which will protect the quality of postwar education, the citizens owe it to themselves and their children to support actively such a plan.

The perfect toy has been invented, according to Junior who got one for his birthday. It's a toy tank that fires chocolate candy.

When the Nazis first called Berchtesgaden Hitler's "mountain retreat" they never knew how prophetic they were.

The Browser's Bookshelf

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Bill Saroyan isn't the only Armenian on the literary beach. There is at least one other who may not be able to perform these Saroyanesque acrobatics with words but who does write with more warmth than Saroyan and in some ways has a gentle touch that is beyond the older Armenian. One is never quite sure with Saroyan; one has the feeling that he may explode at any minute. . . . But with Richard Hagepian, who wrote "The Dove Brings Peace" (Farrar and Rinehart), one comes into a friendlier relationship.

Marshall Maslin

These are lovely stories of the human heart. Their author believes that often the ways of his people are indistinguishable from the ways of the older Americans whom he has knows in America. In fact, he confesses that in some stories he is writing of us others and has merely darkened our skins—a statement that to the Browser is almost unbelievable. That may seem true to Mr. Hagepian, but in fact he has infused his own spirit into his American friends and transformed them into Armenians.

In these stories the author—who was born in Massachusetts thirty years ago and intended to be a singer but is now a teacher of English at Menlo, California—brings to us the melancholy, quiet joys, bitter memories, brooding humor, and intensely close relationship of the Armenian family and community.

There is little in Helen Hiett's "No Matter Where" (Dutton) that has not been written by other appraisers of the European scene in the last decade, but that little is uniquely Miss Hiett's own. She is an intelligent, capable, well-informed, and beautiful young woman who has been around a lot since she first went to Geneva in 1935. She worked in a German girls' labor unit, she was in Germany again after the war began and observed how the young people she had known had stiffened into loyal support of the war—but felt that their generation was forever lost; she was in France during its fall and escaped into Switzerland; she broadcast from Spain under almost frustrating conditions for nine months; she seems to have a knack of being at the focal point of the news always. . . . But her book needs editing and rigorous pruning, and sometimes she made the Browser wince. Too many inconsequential details.

Rene Kraus's "Old Master" (Dutton) is the story of the life of Jan Christian Smuts, the strong man of South Africa. A good solid book, admiring but not adulatory. Here is General Smuts, full stature, an able leader of his people, not selfless nor selfish, shrewd and wise. The author's one violent disagreement with Smuts is on the old master's attitude toward the German people after World War I. Kraus's own impassioned feelings mars slightly the magnificence of his appraisal of the fine old fighting man, Smuts. And this is quite enough from Marsh Maslin.

Union Election Is Seen at Bottom Of Ward Dispute

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 1—The Roosevelt army seizure of Montgomery Ward did not grow out of any high labor or legal principle.

The issue did not involve higher wages, shorter hours or any benefits like those, or even any important right of labor.

Paul Mallon

Only by government action and company resistance did it become intricately interwoven with government powers and constitutional rights, so deeply as to become difficult to understand.

It all sprang from one single, simple fact in this following way:

The contract of the company with the CIO union had expired. The company did not believe the CIO union continued to represent the majority of workers. The only way the company could cause an election to be held (under the law) was to refuse to sign the contract. This would force the union to go to the War Labor Board and ask an election to show it represented a majority. No employer can get such an election in any other way.

Course Followed

This course was actually followed, and WLB on January 13 issued a directive to cause an election. (An interesting inconsequential sidelight is that one business member of WLB, George Meade, approved the directive and the other, James Tanham, vice president of the Texas Company, dissented.)

In this directive, WLB ordered the old contract continued for thirty days in order that the union ask the National Labor Relations Board to hold the election.

On April 5, the WLB issued another order directing the company to renew the contract, and pending compliance, the union was not required to press for an election, as previously ordered. The union already had petitioned NLRB for an election, but none was held.

If the company gave in, it would lose its best chance for a free election. The contract it was directed to renew contains a check-off whereby the union gets dues of all employes from the company, whether these workers want to belong to the union or not. (There was no other union in the plant.)

Checkoff Stopped

The company thereupon stopped paying the checkoff, abolished its labor grievance committee, but observed the rest of the old contract as to wages and hours, and said:

"Now let's have an election."

The strike developed, the WLB felt itself defied, the government seized the plant, Mr. Roosevelt ordered the troops in, etc.

All anyone ever wanted was an election. The government itself had even ordered one. If one had been held at any time, there would have been no trouble. If one were held today, the sensational difficulties would dissolve.

Suspicions Befog Issue

Surface suspicions now being aired in the controversy have carried practically everyone away from the real issue. Mr. Roosevelt's critics, with justice, can complain that he has used the army against a non-war plant, to help the CIO.

This is quite an advantageous political opportunity, because the president has been required to resist CIO's efforts to force a higher general wage level. Also he has been trying to get a national labor draft act, which CIO ecpecially deplores.

On the other hand, the courts being what they are these days after twelve years of Roosevelt appointees, the company also may be inclined to seek a political judgment. Some lower court might possibly challenge Mr. Roosevelt's act, but certainly the supreme court would uphold him.

Rights Forfeited to Expediency

In fact, common business practice has been to surrender as soon as the government steps in. Business well knows that the cost of a lost suit and lost business would be greater than whatever wage, hour or other provisions the government may wish to extract from it. It has been forfeiting rights to expediency.

In this case, if the government loses in the courts it will have to pay for lost Montgomery Ward business, which, however, may increase, as a result of publicity, depending on popular approval of the company position.

The only place the company can win the case however, probably is in Congress, and there it is already being taken up unofficially in open debate.

ThoseEightBases On British Soil

From the Cincinnati Times-Star

There is almost universal agreement in the United States that this country should retain the pre-war Japanese islands in the Central Pacific which our armed forces have conquered. Little thought has been given those bases in the Western Hemisphere which we peacefully acquired from Great Britina. In 1940 the United States obtained a ninety-nine year lease on eight British naval base sites in the near Atlantic and the Caribbean in exchange for fifty over-age American destroyers. Recently a three-man subcommittee, including Representative William E. Hess, of the House Naval Affairs committee has made a study tour of the bases and now recommends that the government open negotiations with Britain to acquire them in perpetuity.

The subcommittee points out that the navy has already spent $130,000,000 in developing these bases and will spend more before the end of the war. Over a ninety-nine year period the outlay may be enormous. The bases will be entirely the product of American capital and labor. In simple equity, to say nothing of American defense needs, the bases should belong to us.

Thus far, Congress, the president, the British government and Parliament have not been heard from on this subject. But there seems to be a basis here for fair negotiations between friendly powers. Of course, nations are not in the habit of giving something for nothing. Great powers are especially jealous of their sovereign rights over every square foot of territory. The British may regard the expenditures we have made in Bermuda, Newfoundland and the British West Indies, as a contribution to American self-defense, or, at most, to the common military cause. Such considerations would more likely bulk large if the question were put off until after the war.

In the long view of Anglo-American relations, however, it would be to Britain's interest to meet the subcommittee's proposal in a sympathetic mood. Speaking of post war policy, the other day, Winston Churchill remarked that "fraternal association" with the United States is for Britain second only in importance to the continuing unity of the British Commonwealth. Not many gestures could make for more friendly co-operation than granting the United States a title to naval bases on British soil in the Western Hemisphere.

Seizure of Ward's Arouses Legislators Because Law Gives No Such Authority

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 30—The House of Representatives will pass and perhaps the Senate also will adopt resolutions of inquiry to determine exactly what prompted the Roosevelt administration to defy the will of Congress and seize a mail-order merchandising house on the ground that it is directly related to the war effort.

David Lawrence

Members of Congress are up in arms, so to speak, and rightly so. For if the procedure used by the attorney general is unchallenged and unrestrained, then any corner drugstore and any dry-goods store or the business of any employer of labor who refuses to kowtow to the administration's pro-labor policy on the "maintenance-of-membership" clauses can be seized by the government.

Congress never intended the provisions of the Smith-Connally law, relating to the seizure of war plants where labor disputes occur, to be interpreted as giving authority to the government to take over and operate retail establishments, or any other businesses which do not themselves manufacture munitions or weapons of war.

All Business Hit

If the definition of "war plant" is stretched as the attorney general uses it, then all American businesses of every kind and description and all their employees are subject to the degrees and orders of the president. No further legislation then is needed to draft workers, to prohibit the right to strike or to deprive citizens of their civil liberties. For these liberties are gone—that is, if the attorney general's amazing opinion is sustained.

It is important for the public to know—and Congress will bring out the facts by its investigations—that Ward's has been trying for months to get the War Labor Board into court to establish by legal means whether another section of the Smith-Connally law relating to National Labor Relations act orders was being adhered to by the War Labor Board. The War Labor Board has resisted every effort to allow the Ward management a chance to test the issue of constitutionality or lawfulness in courts. But then when the government wants a court order, it gets a judge in Chicago out of bed at night and obtains an order in a jiffy restraining Ward's from pursuing its business even though that company feels that the order seizing its property is unlawful and that the individuals who are occupying its offices are trespassing.

Only Method for Test

There are many people who shake their heads dolefully and say that in time of war, when the government issues an order, it should be promptly obeyed. But Ward's wanted to get into court to test the order, and the only way to get a hearing was to take the risks of refusing to recognize the lawfulness of the order.

The theory that court action must be brushed aside in wartime implies that it was a matter of life and death to the war effort to seize Ward's. The dispute has been dragging on for several weeks and the administration has been jockeying for legal position and finally ordered the seizure to be carried out by a civilian government official acting for an agency of the government that is not connected directly with the war—the department of Commerce.

Trend Illustrated

Hitherto all seizure cases have been undertaken by the army and navy and have usually been applied to war plants where war products were being manufactured. To be able to write on a piece of paper an order to take a retail merchandising business and to give no more legal justification than the flimsy generalities contained in the attorney general's so-called opinion is to illustrate the extent to which the totalitarian instinct has crept into the minds of some of the bureaucrats who run the government in Washington.

The courageous attitude of Sewell Avery will be applauded widely because he had the will to bring the issue into the courts and to bring it also to the attention of the law-making body whose laws are being distorted into the claimed right arbitarily to seize any business, store or building which in the imagination of someone in government is essential to the war effort. The episode has become a national sensation.

Baruch Gives Another Million

From Pittsburgh, Pa., Press

It is often said that few of us would know what to do with a million dollars if we had it, which of course is a theory that most of us will never have a chance to put to trial.

Anyway elder statesman and philanthropist Bernard M. Baruch, who has handled millions through most of his adult years, has demonstated time and again that he knows how to deal in such sums. Christmas week a year ago he shelled out a million bucks to the various war relief agencies, at a time when the money was much needed. And today comes announcement of his $1,100,000 gift for teaching and research in physical medicine. This too is a timely contribution, in that the knowledge and training gained, can be put to prompt use in the treatment and rehabilitation of war wounded.

The doctors and scientists in this undertaking have a double challenge—to eliminate the quackery, and to extend the knowledge of the actual healing powers of sun, water, air, heat and other agents in the field of physiotherapy. They can go forward in their work with the assurance that Mr. Baruch is a man who likes to finish what he starts, and this is something he has started as a tribute to the memory of his father, Dr. Simon Baruch. If they prove that real good can be accomplished they doubtless will find that another million or so can be obtained from the same pocket.

Breakup of Solid South Is Seen as Remote Possibility

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—The most optimistic Republican political observers are predicting intermittent chinks, then wide breaks in the Solid South this November, chasms which may make the margin for their presidential candidate even greater than they hope for.

They are pointing down the corridors of time to the election of 1928, when Al Smith lost North Carolina and other southern states in the GOP sweep that sent Herbert Hoover into the White House.

The Capitol

More cautious observers, however, are not particularly sanguine over anti-New Deal strength in the southern states. They feel that it is inadequate and will have little effect on the general election.

They point out that several factors would raise GOP hopes in Dixie. Among these are the nomination of Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, for president, and the bitter feeling engendered against the New Deal in Texas by the supreme court's invalidation of the state's "white supremacy" primary law.

Other political observers, however, agree that Texas recognized the supreme court decision as a purely legal move and that it will have little effect on the state political situation. They assert that Texas is safely in the Roosevelt column if the president chooses to make a fourth term bid.

North Carolina, despite dissatisfaction over the New Deal, is likely to remain Democratic, barring unforseen events. And the same is true of Virginia and the other Piedmont and south central states.

Borderline states, particularly Kentucky and possibly Tennessee are doubtful.

Postal Change Familiar

The change in local postal rates from two to three cents an ounce had a familiar ring.

In 1932, both the local and non-local rate went up to three cents for letters, but a year later local rates were changed back to two cents.

During World War I, the non-local rate was upped from two to three cents, but changed back in 1919. And away long ago in 1879, it cost three cents per half ounce for out-of-town letters and two cents per half ounce for local mail. Not until 1885 did Uncle Sam carry the mail for two cents an ounce.

"Deal" Is Rumored

The halls of Congress are reverberating these days to charges that a "deal" is on the fire to hold up the vitality-important Price Control act, which expires June 30, in return for special treatment on the pending anti-poll tax bill in the Senate.

Hearings are now being held in the Senate and House on the proposed extension of the OPA for one year after June 30. Most observers agree that neither chamber will receive a bill until the latter part of May.

With southern Senate forces set for an all-out filibuster on the House-passed anti-poll tax bill, sponsored by Representatives Vito Marcantonio (A. L.) of New York, a huge log-jam is developing in the upper chamber's legislative calendar.

Blocking Move Seen

Consumer representatives who haunt the interminable corridors of Congress see in the filibuster an attempt to block Senate consideration of the price control law. They are fearful that any delay would open the floodgates of inflation and make it too late to recapture present advantages of the act.

Southern anti-poll law leaders, however, contend that they are willing to yield to any legislation which is "vital to the welfare of the nation" provided that when the legislation is disposed of they will regain the floor.

Senate procedure, however, calls for first things first and the orderly disposal of business. Thus, some observers wonder whether the anti-poll tax bill hangs as a possible threat over important legislation.

Factographs

The British navy, together with the RAF, has sunk more than six million tons of German and Italian merchant shipping.

The first postal service in America was inaugurated on May 1, 1693, between Portsmouth, N. H., and Philadelphia.

Farmers have been asked to increase their crop acreage from the 361 million in 1943 to 380 million in 1944.

The average factory worker in Britain was earning $18.82 a week for an average week of fifty hours last year.

Six Stakes Will Be Run This Week At Pimlico Oval

Dixie Handicap Saturday Will Climax Pre-Preakness Program

BALTIMORE, April 30—(AP)—Racing at Pimlico will take on its customary pre-Preakness glamor during the coming week with the running of six stakes having an aggregate added value of $72,500. The week will be climaxed by the Dixie handicap on Saturday.

This traditional Pimlico stake, the oldest in Maryland, has been increased in value to $30,000 and will attract most of the best handicap performers in training while their three-year-old cousins are fighting it out in the Kentucky derby at Churchill Downs.

Proceeds of the first four days of the week will be devoted to war relief. President Henry A. Parr III, of Pimlico, announced Saturday that Wednesday's net proceeds would go to the American Red Cross and those of the other three days to other war relief agencies.

Tomorrow's feature, the $7,500-added Baltimore Spring handicap, attracted a field of seven older sprinters, headed by two top Maryland-owned horses, E. C. Eastwood's Challamore and H. Guy Bedwell's Sollure.

Challamore's First Start

Challamore, one of the leading sprinters of last fall's joint meeting here when he won three stakes, will be baking his first start of the year. Sollure, always dangerous at the six-furlong distance, won the Harford handicap on April 22 and has also accounted for one allowance race at the meeting.

The two drew equal weight assignments of 122 pounds, ten more than that on G. C. Greer's Cape Cod. Early odds favored Challamore and Sollure, but there was also considerable support for Porter's Cap, the veteran Charles S. Howard performer who was assigned only 105 pounds.

Tuesday's program will be featured by the $15,000-added Philadelphia handicap, a mile and one sixteenth test from the Havre de Grace stake list which will provide something of a preview of the Dixie.

The $5,000-added Rennert handicap on Wednesday is expected to bring out a record crop of three-year-old sprinters, including Armed, Bell-the-Cat, Blue Sash, Begger, Silver Pennant, Galactic, Irish Tar and Adelphia.

Ral Parr on Thursday

The Ral Parr which will feature the Thursday program is a four and one-half furlong test for juveniles, the third of four stakes for two-year-olds.

Friday will feature the running of the $10,000-added Jervis Spencer Steeplechase handicap, the second of two stakes for jumpers and one of the most heavily-endowed of such races during the year.

The grand finale for the week, the mile and three sixteenths Dixie, is expected to bring out Princequillo, Son of Peace, Sun Again, Grey Wing, Alquest, Devil Diver, Four Freedoms, Anticlimax, Rounders, Tola Rose and Lord Calvert.

Total production of denim for overalls dropped from 328,000,000 yards in 1941 to about 266,000,000 yards last year.

"Passport to Destiny" Showing at Liberty

"Passport to Destiny," RKO Radio's action comedy, opening today at the Liberty theater, offers one of the most unusual plots seen upon the screen. It revolves around the astonishing scheme of an English cleaning-woman who plans to bring peace to the world by going to Berlin and slaying Hitler.

Elsa Lanchester, noted British actress, has the principal role of Mrs. Ella Muggins, whose late husband, Sergeant-Major Muggins, attributed his many escapes from death to a Hindu charm. When Ella accidentally finds the talisman and has it in her pocket when a bomb explodes but leaves her unharmed, she is convinced of its magic value.

Firmly beleiveing that nothing can hurt her, she conceives the bright idea of going to Berlin and shooting Adolf, thereby ending the war. With her pail and scrubbing-brush she sets out, reaches the French coast and industriously scrubs her way to Berlin itself, pretending to be deaf and dumb when anyone speakes to her.

Hal McIntyre Wins Top Place in Swingdom

Today's brightest star on music's horizon is a young and personable saxophonist and bandleader, Hal McIntyre. Right now, Hal and his band are giving out with solid, hot licks in Columbia's soldier musical, "Hey, Rookie," which opens Thursday at the Maryland theater.

The story of Hal's rise to musical fame begins on December 8, 1936 in Cromwell, Connecticut, according to his diary.

"Received a call this afternoon after the show from a fellow who said he was Benny Goodman. Told me he wanted me to sit in with his boys tonight. I didn't believe it was Goodman and told him to call me at my home at 9:30 if it were on the up and up. Darned if it didn't turn out to be Goodman!"

Recital Is Given Piano Pupils of Mrs. Marguerite Wood

A recital by the piano pupils of Mrs. Marguerite Wood, 869 Gephart drive, was presented Friday evening in the Centre Street Methodist church. The participants had recently taken part in the Competitive Music Festival at Fort Hill high school. Three of the pupils had been awarded superior ratings; seventeen were judged as excellent and six were given "very good" ratings.

Mrs. Frank Stuart Rowe, past president of the Maryland State Federation of Music, presented certificates of merit to the pupils.

The program and those participating included "Drifting," Williams, by Bobby Mann; "Rondo", Beethoven, Marjorie Hutcheson; "Swans On the Lake," Thompson, Leslie Millenson; "Pop Corn Man", Thompson, Joanne Shertzer; "The Katydid and the Cricket", Wade, Diane Warden; "Springtime Caprice", Boykins, Dorothy Crawford; "Scherzo", Haydn, Pat Taylor; "Swinging High and Low", Cobb, Barbara Bloke; "The Grasshopper Family," Rea, Barbara Michael; "The Pool at Night", Hanson, Franny Reynolds; "The Gay Cavalier", Ketterer, Donna Rae Garland; "Lullaby for a Lambkin", Eckstein, Luella Jeanne Heineman; "Rumba", Welbright, Ann Reynolds; "Chimes Thru the Night", Frost, Virginia Martz.

TRUCKMAN—SPARE THAT TIRE!

Truck tires are scarce today . . . so it's just plain common sense to look after them better now than ever before. Drivers can help by "sparing their tires" from unnecessary jolts against curbs, ruts and chuck holes and by keeping speed down on the open road. Maintenance men can help by keeping proper air pressures and having repairs made in time and we can help with "U.S." Transportation Maintenance—the plan that truck operators everywhere find is saving truck tire miles and cutting tire costs. See us for full details today.

Field for Derby Is Reduced to 15 Likely Starters

Wide Open Race Looms; Most of Talk Centers on Stir Up

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30 (AP)—From the prospects of the biggest field since War Admiral whipped nineteen rivals in 1937 and the most wide open race in recent years, the field for the seventieth running of the Kentucky derby Saturday had been reduced to fifteen probable starters today with Stir Up labelled as the standout for the $75,000 test at Churchill Downs.

Some eighteen three-year-olds still are considered in the running for the mile and one-quarter test but a check of the trainers at the Downs this morning and the results of Saturday's Chesapeake stakes at Pimlico left the belief that at least three of them would drop by the wayside before the $500 entry fee is posted Friday morning.

There are ten horses on the grounds considered sure starters—at least as sure as any trainer can be six days in advance of the race. Eight of them, including Stir Up from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable, will not appear in competition before the band strikes up "My Old Kentucky Home" tround 4:45 p. m., Central War Time, Saturday.

Several from Maryland

Ready to run without further competition, in addition to Greentree's gelded son of Stimulus, are A. A. Baroni's Autocrat, A. C. Ernst's Alorter, Dave Ferguson's Bell Buzzer, Brief Sigh from Robert J. Dienst's River Divide farm, Challenge Me of O. E. Breault's Brolilte farm, the Erlanger stable's Shut Up, and M. B. Goff's Skytracer. Trainers of Mrs. George Poulsen's Broadcloth and Ruth W. Collins's Kope Kona, the Hawaiian colt, said their charges would go—come hell or high waters.

Expected from Maryland are Mrs. A. J. Abel's Gramps Image, surprise winner of the Chesapeake; Warren Wright's Pensive, runner-up to Gramps Image; the Bobanet stable's Gay Bit, third in that mile and one-sixteenth test and Philip Goodfrey's Comenow. There also is a chance that Hirsch Jacobs may decide to ship Stymie.

Out of Tuesday's derby trial at the Downs will come the remaining starters in the turf classic. This group includes Broad Grin, a little hard-hitting stablemate of Stir Up which ran second in one division of the Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

Street Car Affair

Meanwhile, there was plenty of talk around derby town over the race, which for the second straight year will be a street car affair with more than 50,000 fans jamming their way in Col. Matt Winn's spacious plant.

Most of the talk was of Stir Up, winner of the Flamingo stakes at Hialeah park and one division of the Wood at Jamaica. Some tossed in a good word for Skytracer, who gave the Greentree representative an argument in the Flamingo and won the recent Blue grass stakes. But all agreed that Stir Up probably will go postward close to even money to give the first lady of the turf her third victory in the historic event.

Phils Capture 14-Inning Game

PHILADELPHIA, April 30—(AP)—With the score tied at 2-2, the second game of today's doubleheader between the Phillies and the Boston Braves was called at the end of the ninth because of a city curfew. The Phillies won the opener, 2-1, in fourteen innings. The crowd, Shibe park's largest of the season, was 30,392.

Butch Nieman's homer in the first half of the ninth knotted the score in the second game. Pitcher Dick Barrett drove in both of the Phillies' rouns.

The two Als—Javery and Gerheauser—staged a marathon pitching duel in the first game, Javery giving up eight hits in fourteen innings and Gerheauser allowing the Braves five in eleven innings. Chet Covington, who replaced Gerheauser and was nicked for three hits, was the winning pitcher.

Ron Northey singled, was sacrificed to second by Tony Lupien, and romped home with the winning run when Whitey Weitelmann's throw hit the dirt. The scores:

New Yorkers' Fall Shy of Record before Season's Top Crowd

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—The New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers divided a doubleheader today before the season's record crowd of 58,068, of which 52,037 were paid admissions.

Hal Gregg won his first major league game as the Dodgers won the final, 5-4, which was shortened to seven innings by darkness. The Giants won the opener, 26-8, to fall two runs shy of the modern major league scoring mark.

The St. Louis Cardinals scored twenty-eight runs against the Philadelphia Phillies July 6, 1929. The American League mark is twenty-seven, made by the Cleveland Indians July 7, 1923.

Phil Weintraub, Giants first baseman, batted in eleven runs with a homer, triple and two doubles to just miss tieing the major league record of twelve, set by Jim Bottomley, of the St. Louis Cardinals, on September 16, 1924. Ernie Lombardi, Giant catcher, drove in seven runs.

Mel Ott added two records to his all-time marks when he received five walks for the fourth time of his career, and scored six runs, a feat he has accomplished once before.

The Giants tied the league record for receiving the most bases on balls in a game, seventeen, from five Brooklyn pitchers. The Dodgers also received seventeen bases on balls, August 27, 1903.

Hal Gregg issued eight walks in the second game but tightened in the pinches. Howard Schultz, besides hitting two homers in the opener, drove in three runs in the second game to increase his league leadership to fourteen runs batted in.

Brooklyn Manager Leo Durocher was chased in the sixth inning of the opener. The scores:

Pirates and Reds Divide Twin-Bill

CINCINNATI, April 30 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds saved the second half of a doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates today behind Bucky Walters's pitching, winning 4 to 1, after losing the first game 7 to 1.

Walters allowed but three hits and struck out six in the nightcap. Criscola scored the first Red run when he tripled and scored on Frank McCormick's double.

In the seventh inning, Ray Mueller doubled, Walters walked, Woody Williams singled to score Mueller and a wild throw to third allowed Walters to score.

Eric Tipton hit his first home run of the year in the eighth.

The Pirates got four doubles off Elmer Riddle in the seven innings he worked in the first game. Doubles by Vince DiMaggio and Al Lopez and a long fly accounted for the first two runs in the third inning. Bob Elliott singled and scored on Frank Gustine's double in the fourth. Another double and a single scored a run in the sixth, and a walk, a sacrifice and a single were good for a run in the seventh.

Clyde Shoun was touched for two runs in the ninth.

Nick Strincevich held the Reds to three hits until the eighth. The scores:

Cardinals Take Two from Cubs To Stay on Top

Hopp Comes within Digit of Equaling Two Fielding Records

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals retained their top-of-the-heap National League standing in a double victory, 5-0, and 7-5, over the Chicago Cubs today, thus amassing nine triumphs in eleven starts this season.

In the more violent second game, the Cubs grabbed an early lead in the fourth inning when they picked up two runs. The Cards gleaned a single counter in the same inning and then the pressure seemed relaxed until the last of the seventh when the St. Louis club opened up with a barrage of heavy hitting that smashed in six runs and knocked Wyse out of the box.

Outfielder Johnny Hopp came within a digit of equaling two major league fielding records, both held by Earl Clark, of the Boston Nationals. Hopp's eleven putouts and one assist was just under the 12-putout record for one game established by Clark in May, 1929. Hopp's twelve chances today were just one fewer than Clark's thirteen.

Pitcher Max Lanier was the hero of the opener, in which he allowed only three hits, permitting one walk and fanned four batters. The game gave him his third victory and second shutout. The scores:

Brownies Break Even with Chisox

CHICAGO, April 30 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns suffered their season's second defeat today, 6 to 5, in ten innings, in the opener of a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox, but they came back in the nightcap to record their tenth success, 5 to 4.

A crowd of 6,602 saw the games in Comiskey park.

Leroy Schalk won the first game for the Chicagoans with his tenth inning double which scored Guy Curtright from second after the Browns had tied the score with three runs in the eighth.

In his third start of the season, Orval Grove was driven from the box by the Browns in their eighth-inning uprising and was succeeded by Gordon Maltzberger, who was credited with the triumph.

The Browns broke a 2 to 2 deadlock with a pair of runs in the sixth inning of the second game, when Don Gutteridge doubled to score Frank Mancuso and Newman Shirley. They tallied one more in the seventh for a 5 to 2 lead but the Sox countered with a pair in their half of the seventh to chase Pitcher Shirley from the mound. The scores:

N.Y.U. Takes Top Honors in Penn Relay Carnival

Violets Win Four Major Titles and West Point Cadets Three

By TED MEIER

PHILADELPHIA, April 30 (AP) — Army, Dartmouth, Michigan and New York university split the eight major relay championships at the annual two-day Penn relay track carnival that ended yesterday before 25,000 at sun-bathed Franklin field. Counting all events, New York university took top honors with four victories and the West Point Cadets second with three.

Michigan, Big Ten champions, were favored to win four major relay titles, but because of a mixup in instructions the Wolverines threw away a twenty-five-yard lead in the two-mile and lost to Dartmouth and Rochester. Army and Dartmouth then topped off the Michigan error by beating the Ann Arbor runners in the one-mile relay.

N.Y.U. Wins Quarter-Mile

N.Y.U. won the quarter-mile and half-mile relay titles with Ed Conwell beating Barney Ewell in the 100-yard dash and Norm Wasser taking the shotput.

West Point, in addition to taking the mile on George Berger's 49.2 anchor quarter, won the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, and Art Truxes captured the two-mile run.

Dartmouth, sparked by Don Burnham's 1:55.2 and 1:56.7 anchor half-miles, took the sprint medley and two-mile relay titles, while the Michigan lads easily copped the distance medley and four-mile before disaster overtook them in the mile.

The incident occurred as Bob Ufer was about to take the baton from Michigan's third man, Bob Hume. At the last second Ufer was pulled off the track and Jack Prudue was substituted to run the anchor leg against Dartmouth's Burnham. Burnham easily overtook Prudue and then passed him to win by a big margin. Prudue dropped back to third as Rochester's Lincoln Stoughton spurted in the stretch.

Hulse Fails To Set Record

Bill Hulse, of New York, America's fastest outdoor miler, failed to break the three-quarter record of 2:58.7 although he won the special event by a big margin over his teammate, Alfred Daily. Hulse ran the first quarter in 59.5 and the half in 2:01.8, with a final time of 3:04.

Franklin and Marshal, of Lancaster, Pa., also won two events, the Middle Atlantic States mile relay and the javelin throw. No records were shattered in the two-day competition.

ATHLETICS, RED SOX SPLIT DOUBLEHEADER

BOSTON, April 30 (AP)—The dinkiest kind of a scratch hit was the only safe blow in a seventh inning three-run outburst which gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 3 to 1 verdict over the Boston Red Sox today in the second game of a doubleheader. "Tex" Hughson, making his first start of the season, won the opener for Boston, 3 to 2.

Emmett O'Neill, who had blanked the A's until that inning, opened the seventh by hitting Bill Burgo with a pitched ball. Bob Wilkin attempted a sacrifice bunt and the ball hopped over O'Neill's glove for a scratch hit. Luman Harris walked to fill the bases.

After Jo-Jo White popped out, "Skeeter" Newsome messed up a potential double play, allowing two runs to score. Harris came in from third on O'Neill's wild pitch. The scores:

Tobin, Braves' Hurler, Approaches Vander Meer's Three-Game Mark

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Probably no pitcher ever started a season with such fine performance as those turned in by Jim Tobin, the Boston Braves flutterball artist. Allowing only a total of four hits in three complete games really is something.

In fact, the first idea is that it would be a record at any time during a season, but a little research discloses Tobin didn't quite match Johnny Vander Meer's performance over a three-game stretch, although he still might do it if he allowed only two hits in his next start.

Vander Meer allowed a total of only three hits in three straight games, but he had to throw in a couple of no-hitters to turn the trick. In the game immediately preceding his brace of no-hit contests Johnny was nicked for three hits.

Seventeen Hits in Six Games

Vander Meer's dazzling performance over a six-game stretch in 1938 is overlooked because attention is focused on the two consecutive no-hit games that were included, but that six-game record provides another mark for Tobin to shoot at.

Johnny, in winning each of the six starts, allowed a total of only seventeen hits, an average of less than three a game. That bracelet of pitching gems reads like this:

May 27—Allowed five hits in defeating St. Louis, 2-1.

June 1—Allowed five hits in defeating Brooklyn, 4-1.

June 5—Allowed three hits in defeating the Giants, 4-1.

June 11—Allowed no hits in blanking Boston, 3-0.

June 15—Allowed no hits in blanking Brooklyn, 6-0.

June 19—Allowed four hits in defeating Boston, 14-1.

Tobin has been sneaking up on his no-hitter since his first start, in which he allowed only three hits in losing to the Giants, 2-1. In his next game he blanked the Phils, 5-0, allowing only one hit, and last Thursday he crashed through with his no-hitter in shutting out Brooklyn, 2-0. He can't improve on that latter performance unless he fails to walk a man, as his brace of passes to Paul Waner accounted for the only men to reach first.

Did All Asked of Him

There might be those who try to belittle Tobin's performance, calling attention to the admitted fact that he might have had help from war conditions, and that had the Dodger lineup included gents such as Billy Herman and Arky Vaughan and Pete Reiser—men who ordinarily would not be with the team—the chances of holding the club hitless would have been considerably lessened.

However, that's like saying Joe Louis isn't so good because the fellows he beat weren't so hot. Louis did everything that was required of him, and the same is true of Tobin. If the Dodgers aren't as stout as they once were, that's no fault of his, and you might as well belittle Vander Meers' double no-hit performance by saying the second game was played at night, and besides, he was new to the league and the batters didn't know what to expect from him.

Anyway, a low bow to Mr. Tobin for three grand performances. When he gets in shape this year he ought to be pretty good.

TIGERS WIN 4 TO 2 AFTER LOSING 2 TO 1

DETROIT, April 30 (AP)—Before 38,940 spectators, second largest crowd in two years at Briggs Stadium, the Detroit Tigers won the night-cap, 4 to 2, to divide a doubleheader today with the Cleveland Indians, who took the opener, 2 to 1. Cleveland thus seized a 3 to 1 series edge.

A two-run single by Chuck Hostetler, 38-year-old rookie out-fielder, off Allie Reynolds in the seventh inning provided the winning runs in the nightcap. Johnny Gorscia pitched a seven-hitter for his first victory. Don Ross, of Detroit, and Ken Keltner, of Cleveland, homered in this game.

In the opener, Rookie Pat Seerey doubled Manager Lou Boudreau home from first in the eighth inning to break up a pitching duel between Vernon Kennedy, who gained his first victory, and Frank Overmire, who suffered his second defeat. The scores:

Need a Gas Mask to Drive?

If there's a fume-raid every time you back the old bus out of the garage and head for town—you're being gassed. Your muffler is leaking carbon monoxide, diluted but still dangerous. If your exhaust throws a smoke screen you're not only spoiling the air, you're wasting Gas.

Don't Do It!

Do this instead: drive in to EILER CHEVROLET tomorrow morning—drive out tomorrow evening with smokeless power and pure air everywhere.

Jury of Women Series Will Be Offered on Radio

Feature Will Have All the Elements of a Trial in Court

By JEAN MEEGAN

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—People who are fond of airing their hardships over the radio have a new outlet beginning at 1:30 today over Mutual. The American Woman's Jury has combined certain features of John J. Anthony's Goodwill Hour (probably the most frequently burlesqued of all radio shows) and A. L. Alexander's Mediation Board.

Instead of just a whining harangue by the trouble client and a quick mealy-mouthed solution by the manipulator of the show, this program will have all the elements of a courtroom proceeding: judge, attorney for defense and prosecution, and twelve housewives acting as jurors.

New Musical Show

Today CBS will introduce a new musical show at 5:30 containing Jack Smith and the Three Sisters. At noon the network will mark the thirteenth anniversary of one of its oldest stars, Kate Smith. It's her own birthday too.

Two screen stars can be heard tonight. Frederic March will play Mark Twain in a radio adaptation of the forthcoming film, "The Adventures of Mark Twain" on Cavalcade of America at 8 over NBC.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke will star in Showtime at 10:30 over CBS.

Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, who was our envoy to Denmark before the war will recite some Danish recipes at 11 this morning over mutuals What's Your Idea program.

Some Early Offerings

Orthopedic Surgeons Recommend Hospital Care for Thirteen

Thirteen children were recommended for hospitalization and nine for examination at special clinics, according to a report on the orthopedic clinic conducted recently by Drs. David Weinberg and Dr Alfred Mendoza at the headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Out of a total of 214 children examined forty-six were listed as new cases. Two children were discharged from the orthopedic service.

The clinicians recommended that 100 of those examined to have or continue with special shoes, that six have new appliances other than shoes and that ninety-six continue with physiotherapy treatments.

Plan Distribution Of Penicillin

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—A nation-wide system for limited distribution of the "wonder drug" Penicillin to civilians has been announced by the War Production Board.

Under the system, supplies will be channeled to more than 1,000 depot hospitals.

An Office of Civilian Penicillin Distribution has been established in Chicago at the WPB regional office to carry out the distribution.

Three Wills Are Filed for Record In Orphans' Court

Three wills were admitted to probate and another was admitted to record Friday in orphans' court.

Three children are named beneficiaries under the will of John Zitzman who died March 10, 1939. One daughter, Cecelia Tole, receives a cash bequest of $800, while she, another daughter, Anna Decker, and a son, Leo J. Zitzman, each receive six shares of capital stock of the Maryland Glass Company. Anna Decker is to receive $100 for taking care of her father and the remainder of the estate is to be divided among the three children share and share alike.

The will of Margaret C. Lapp names her daughter, Everal Lapp, principal beneficiary and executrix while the proceeds of two insurance policies are bequeathed to her son, Royle Lapp.

The estate of John Ternent is bequeathed to his three children, Effie K. Ternent, Anna Ternent Sprague and Harry James Ternent, share and share alike.

The will of George W. Witt, Wellersburg borough, Somerset county, Pa., was filed for record in the local court.

In Memoriam

In memory of 1st Sgt. James J. Dunn, Co. A, 501st M. P. Battalion, who died April 27, 1943 at a Latin American Post.

He was Uncle Sam's boy
And traveled o'er land and sea
And devoted all his life for good
Old Liberty.
He was a faithful servant to
The country we all adore
And has helped to protect
Old Glory and keep the enemy
From our shores.
Now that his faithful service
Is o'er and his liberty he has won,
He has gone to a better land
To the golden shores beyond.

Sadly missed by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunn; sister, Mrs. Fred Miller, and brother, Richard Dunn.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Anna B. Skelly, who passed away May 1, 1940.
Let us paint her if we may
As we saw her, day by day;
With oval cheeks and lily face,
Ever aglow with Heavenly grace.
With two bright eyes that ever shone
Like the votive in a shrine.
Gentle, saintly, tenderhearted
From her virtue never parted:
This was our Wife and Mother.
Sadly missed by Husband and Children
Joseph Skelly and Children.
5-1-1t-NT

In loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. John Dickerhoof, who passed away one year ago today, May 1, 1943.

A year ago today, God had his way,
He took you home with him to stay,
We miss the voice, we loved so dear,
And often think we hear you near.

Now when we sit and think of you,
And talk of how you died.
To think you couldn't have said good-bye,
Before you closed your eyes.

We all know loved ones must part,
It left a loneliness in our hearts,
We gave you up without a cry.
You have won your mansion in the sky.
Sadly missed by
Husband and children.

Adv. T. April 29 May 1-2

Allegany County Welfare Board, Plaintiff, Vs. Laura Brant, Albert Brant, Emma Brant, Chester Brant and Herman Brant, No. 17865 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of a parcel of land improved with a dwelling house located at Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, which belonged to Frederick P. Brant at the time of his death.

The bill states that Frederick P. Brant died intestate, on or about July 4, 1942, owning a certain lot at Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, which was conveyed to him by the Union Mining Company on April 23, 1921, and that his widow, Laura Brant, his son, Albert Brant and his grandsons Chester Brant and Herman Brant, together with their mother, Emma Brant are his heirs at law to whom said property has descended.

That Frederick P. Brant received Old Age Assistance from the Allegany County Welfare Board to the extent of $1,305.30, which has never been repaid as is due and owing and that he did not leave any personal property and no letters of administration have been taken out on his estate. That the property Frederick P. Brant owned at the time of his death and mentioned in these proceedings is not occupied by the surviving widow of the said Frederick P. Brant or by any of his dependants. That the bill of complaint is filed by said Allegany County Welfare Board in its own behalf and in behalf of all other creditors of Frederick P. Brant who will come in and contribute to the expenses of this suit. The bill further alleges that Laura Brant, Albert Brant and Herman Brant, adults, are not now residing in the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon this 14th. day of April, 1944, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper published in said Allegany County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 18th. day of May, 1944, give notice to the said absent defendants, Laura Brant, Albert Brant and Herman Brant, all adults, of the object and substance of this bill, and warning them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 3rd. day of June, 1944, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

ROBERT JACKSON
Clerk.

One-Day Drive For Wastepaper Nets 90 Tons

Six Box Cars Are Loaded; 300 Volunteer Workers, 35 Trucks Used

Responding to an appeal for wastepaper to aid the war effort, residents and business establishments of Cumberland, Ridgeley, LaVale and Cresaptown yesterday contributed an estimated ninety tons in the one-day drive by Boy Scouts and adult volunteer workers conducted under the sponsorship of the Allegany County Salvage Committee.

Kenneth E. Jackson, acting chairman of the salvage committee, estimated that 300 men and boys participated in the collection which netted six boxcar loads of wastepaper, a new record for a one-day collection in Cumberland and vicinity. Three months had elapsed since the last Sunday collection was held here January 30 on which day seventy-five tons of paper was collected and packed into five railroad boxcars to be dispatched to the mill.

35 Trucks Are Used

Charles E. Bramble, president of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union Local No. 453, and member of the salvage committee, last evening reported that thirty-five trucks with volunteer drivers participated in the collection which got under way at 1:30 p. m. and was concluded at 6 p. m., when the last truckload of paper was packed into the sixth boxcar on the siding at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad rolling mill yard.

Leaders and scouts of practically every troop in Cumberland district assisted in placing the paper on trucks as the rounds were made in the city. Each truck was manned by a crew of five while at the rolling mill an average of fifteen persons to a car was used in loading the paper for shipment to Virginia.

Most of the paper collected at the homes was tied properly, Jackson said, but occasionally the collectors ran into trouble due to improperly tied bundles or loose paper scattered along the curb.

Four truckloads of paper were delivered to the loading depot from the Cresaptown section, five from LaVale and four from Ridgeley, W. Va., where the scouts collected paper on Sunday, April 23.

Assigned to Virginia

The six carloads of paper will be moved to the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's mills, Covington, Va., the same plant to which the January 30 collected was delivered.

Jackson thanked all those who donated trucks, the drivers, scouts and leaders and other volunteers whose efforts were responsible for the success of the collection.

WILSON URGES GOP TO HELP GET FDR OUT OF OFFICE

Lewis M. Wilson in an address at a reception for new members given Saturday night by the recently organized Young Men's Republican Club of Cumberland, urged ousting of the Democrats from control of the national government.

Wilson said "Roosevelt has such a tight grip on his party's machine that the Democrats themselves are unable to get rid of him . . . so it's up to the Republicans."

The speaker outlined the principles of the club, comparing them with those contained in the constitution of a club of the same name which was organized here January 9, 1893.

Other speakers include Mayor Thomas S. Post and Hunter B. Helfrich, commissioner of streets and public property. Seventy-five applications for membership were read by J. Millard Hughes, club president, who announced that meetings will be held each Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

Sgt. Clarence Biehn, local army recruiting officer, showed motion pictures on an air corps theme.

Catholic Central Juniors Rewarded

Catherine Artinghellis and Isabel Becker Earn Trip to New York

Two juniors of Catholic Girls Central high school will be rewarded for general excellence in school work, deportment in and out of school, class spirit and self sacrifice with an all expenses paid trip to New York city as representatives of their school at Catholic Action Week exercises, commencing Monday, August 21, it was announced yesterday.

The two girls selected through a vote of the junior class are Catherine Artinghellis and Isabel Becker. They will be accompanied to New York by two members of the Central high school faculty.

Misses Artinghellis and Becker have been honor students every month. They will be included in a delegation of approximately sixty students of Catholic schools in Baltimore, Hagerstown and other Maryland cities and towns going to New York for the exercises to be held at Fordham university.

Gallup Poll Will Be Published In the NEWS

The Cumberland News, beginning Wednesday, will expand its coverage of national news by offering its readers the complete news reports of the American Institute of Public Opinion, known from coast to coast as the Gallup Poll. Articles by George Gallup will be published four times a week.

The American Institute of Public Opinion won nation-wide attention in the 1936 presidential campaign when it forecast the landslide re-election of President Roosevelt. Unlike the familiar "straw vote" the American Institute of Public Opinion conducts its nation-wide surveys by means of "scientific sampling," using a national staff of more than 1,000 field representatives geared to reach a carefully selected cross-section of the voters in each state.

Watch for the first article Wednesday.

Maryland Nurses Association Will Meet Here May 24

District No. 1 To Be Host at Business Meeting and Dinner

Cumberland will play host to the Maryland State Nurses Association at its spring meeting Wednesday, May 24, in the city hall auditorium, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Gladys Brooks, nursing arts instructor at the Allegany hospital and chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The meeting is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m., and will be followed by a dinner at 6 p. m., in the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, Baltimore pike. Efforts are being made to secure a prominent speaker to address the session.

Other members of the committee headed by Mrs. Brooks are Mrs. Norbert Sell, of Allegany hospital; Miss Lillian Sater, science instructor at Memorial hospital and Mrs. Margaret Hanson, public health nurse of the Maryland State Health Department.

Formed eighteen months ago, District No. 1, of the Maryland State Nurses Association, comprising Garrett and Allegany counties, is the only organized group of nurses in the state.

Miss Anna Quay, who becomes superintendent of nurses at Memorial hospital today as successor to Mrs. Mary E. Freed, is president of the district association. Other officers are Miss Sadie Gladwin, first vice-president; Mrs. Donald Grove, second vice-president; Miss Ruth E. Cornwell, treasurer, and Miss Marian L. Weber, secretary. District No. 1 has 154 members.

Golden Promoted To Lt. Colonel

Local Army Officer from Fort Dix to Spend 15-day Furlough Here

Wearing a silver oak leaf, which designates that he is now a lieutenant colonel, John C. Golden, arrived here Saturday from Fort Dix, N. J., to spend a fifteen-day furlough with his wife, Mrs. Helen Golden, and his mother, Mrs. Emily Susan Golden, Baltimore pike.

Lt. Col. Golden received his promotion April 1, after being transferred to Fort Dix following several months in the California-Arizona maneuver area.

Regarded as an expert at handling practically every type of weapon by the army, and a Judo instructor of note, Lt. Golden trained members of the Second Battalion, Three Hundred and Eighteenth Infantry, in ranger tactics during his stay on the West coast where he was nicknamed "Commando."

Lt. Golden rounded out fifteen years service with Company G, of the Maryland National Guard, prior to being inducted into federal service in February, 1941. He was a second lieutenant when he left here over three years ago. He was raised to the rank of major April 15, 1943.

Since leaving here in 1941, Lt. Golden commanded Company H, of the One Hundred and Fifteenth Infantry at Fort George G. Meade, Md.; instructed Judo and rough and tumble tactics at the Fort Meade Officers' School; did special duty for the Eastern Defense Command; commanded Company B at Fort Meade and A. P. Hill Military Reservation, near Fredericksburg, Va.; was on special duty at Fort Benning, Ga., and was with a ranger outfit at Camp Forest, Tenn., before being transferred to the coast.

Will Conduct Services

Jesse York and Thomas Beard will be in charge of revival services to be conducted in the Ebenezer Baptist church, Cumberland street, Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p. m.

Queen City Hotel Lounge Becomes New USO Center

National Office Issues Certificate to Local Servicemen's Group

Recognition of the Community Servicemen's and Women's Council as the official USO council in Cumberland is contained in a certificate received here by the council from natinoal headquarters of the United Service Organizations, Inc., New York city.

According to the certificate, the local council is authorized to conduct USO services in conformity with the policies and regulations prescribed and to be prescribed by the president and board of directors of the United Service Organizations, Inc. The certificate is dated April 12, 1944, and is signed by Chester J. Barnard, president.

Sponsors Queen City Lounge

The local USO Servicemen's and Women's Council sponsors the servicemen's lounge which was opened last month in the basement of the Queen City hotel of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Accompanying the certificate was a USO manual of sixty-five pages which is designed to assist committees and councils of community operations help solve many of their problems and encourage them to continue in service for the duration.

USO represents the American public and serves America's armed forces and its war workers. It was born in 1941 of the necessity for serving the religious, spiritual, welfare and educational needs of our men and women in the forces and of those workers in vital war industries in overburdened communities.

Sororities will Assist

The Delta Theta Chi Sorority of the Lambda chapter will furnish hostesses for the Queen City lounge May 7, 8 and 9 and until 10 a. m., May 10 when the Woman's Civic Club will finish out the remainder of that week.

The Eta Upsilon Gamma Sorority and the Young Women's Progressive Club of Potomac Valley together will provide hostesses for the week of May 14, beginning at 8 a. m. until 8 a. m. May 21.

BOY DESCENDING ROPE FROM TOP OF BUILDING BREAKS ARM IN FALL

Kenneth Warnick, 5, son of Urner Warnick, Lonaconing, was treated in Memorial hospital at 12:30 p. m. yesterday for a fracture of his right elbow, suffered as his sister was lowering him on a rope from the top of a small building. Hospital attaches said the rope slipped and the boy fell to the ground.

Mrs. Pauline Nave, 25, Bedford Valley, Pa., was treated in Allegany hospital at 7:30 p. m. yesterday for a possible fracture of her right ankle. Hospital attaches said her leg was caught in a car door as it was being closed.

Mrs. Georgia Lough, 29, Bedford Valley, was treated in Allegany hospital at 8:45 p. m. for a laceration of her right thumb suffered when a jar broke as she was opening it.

Hanson Miller, 73, Route 3, Cumberland, was treated in Allegany hospital at 9:30 p. m. yesterday for a puncture wound of his right foot. Attaches said he told them he stepped on a nail.

Walter E. Fenton, 58, Bristol, W. Va., an employe in the Baltimore and Ohio railroad roundhouse, was treated in Memorial hospital early yesterday morning for an injury of his right arm, suffered when he fell from a chair and struck a lump of coal.

Fort Hill Senior Play Is Success

Large and Appreciative Audience Attends "Murder Mansion"

The three-act mystery comedy, "Murder Mansion," presented Friday evening by the senior class of Fort Hill high school, fulfilled all predictions and expectations for an excellent and unusual production.

Directed by Miss Kathleen Cumbee and Joy Wilson, a cast of well trained and talented actors kept one of the largest and most appreciative audiences in the school's history in a state of delighted expectancy and sustained suspense.

Disappearing bodies, a clever crook posing as a local sleuth, a medium exercising her rites to recall the spirits of the departed and a group of unscrupulous schemers plotting to deprive the heiress of possession of the haunted mansion, combined with sparkling comedy, produced a highly dramatic plot. The skilled interpretation, which each player brought to his role was particularly commendable.

Heightening the atmosphere of mystery were the artistic lighting and sound effects and the stage set, executed by Mis Chloris Benson, Ruth Ann Scott and a competent student stage crew headed by Charles Kunes and Harwell Saville.

The cast comprised Ruth Ellen Dayton, Dorothy Coleman, Lois Hanks, Marjorie Dollie, Jackie Ringler, Maryjane Edwards, Wayne Ansell, Hartly Wigfield, Robert Tomsko and Donald Umstot.

A large technical and business staff assisted in the production.

Simms, Orbello Get Alcoholic Beverage Licenses

Salvation Army Complaints Denied; Beer Garden Plans Blocked

Alcoholic beverage licenses were issued to two North Mechanic street applicants in circuit court Saturday morning despite remonstrances that had been filed against them by the local advisory board of the Salvation Army. The hearings were before Chief Judge Walter C. Capper and Associate Judge William A. Huster.

Objects of the remonstrances were Frank Orbello, operator of a beer parlor at 113 North Mechanic street, and located adjacent to the Salvation Army Citadel, and Joseph E. Simms, negro, licensee of the Silver Grill, across the street from the citadel and located at 106 North Mechanic street.

In the Orbello case, the advisory board had protested to the court particularly because he had proposed to open an outdoor beer garden in the rear of his present establishment. An eight-foot fall is now being erected between the garden and the citadel and members of the board said the noise resulting if the garden were opened for business would interfere with the army conducting its affairs in such close proximity.

Restrained from Building Wall

Spokesmen for the army, however, pointed out that they have no complaint with the way Orbello has been conducting his business indoors. Orbello's license was granted but he was restrained, under the present liquor laws, from opening a beer garden. He was represented by Edward J. Ryan.

In dismissing the complaint against Simms, Chief Judge Capper said the remonstrance in substance pertained to noise and he pointed out that the law does not empower the court to revoke a license for that reason. Noise from the grill he said, is no doubt a source of annoyance to the citadel which, "unfortunately enough, is located in the heart of a downtown and congested area."

Simms, also represented by Ryan, promised the court he would attempt to curb noise emanating from the establishment.

The advisory board had protested that the grill was operated in a disorderly manner and that intoxicater upatrons sometimes congested the sidewalk, but Simms said no complaints had been filed against him on previous occasions and denied it has been necessary for him to "dump" his patrons on the street at midnight.

Decision Withheld

A decision on issuance of a license to Harry H. Hoffman, applicant for the Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Department, was reserved for several days after Mrs. A. W. Robinette, principal spokesman for the protestants, declared "we want fire protection, but we also want to be saved from beer."

Herbert S. Sarven, president of the fire company, told the court that there are about 200 members of the organization, all over 21 years of age, and he said the sale of beer would be limited to members only. Sarven said "we firemen like a bottle of beer, and besides that, we want to be in a position to make money to buy equipment like other companies in the county."

Post Office Is Told To Speed War Ballots

If election ballots do not reach servicemen on time it will not be the fault of the post office department, local post office officials declared Saturday.

The current postal bulletin specifies methods which are to be used to expedite the handling of all such mail. Ballots will be routed by air mail whenever possible and will be worked before other mail, according to Postmaster James C. Shriver.

County Employe Dies Suddenly

Mrs. C. W. Flake Succumbs after Working at County Infirmary

Mrs. Betty Lou Melvin Flake, 70, wife of Charles Walsh Flake, 519 Furnace street, died suddenly at 6:15 p. m. yesterday when she was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while walking to her home from the Allegany county infirmary where she was employed.

Usually employed as a dining room helper at the county home, Mrs. Flake yesterday acted as cook at the institution in place of the regular cook who began her vacation.

She reported for work yesterday morning, worked all day and was walking home with another employe when she was stricken about 100 yards from the infirmary and collapsed on the road. Dr. Linne H. Corson, deputy county medical examiner, viewed the body and gave the cause of death of cerebral hemorrhage.

Mrs. Flake was a native of Bluefield, W. Va. She is survived by her husband and three brothers, George, William and James Melvin, all of near Bluefield.

JAMES D. HARDEN

James D. Harden, 41, of Baltimore, a native of Cumberland, died suddenly at his home at 1 a. m. yesterday. He had resided in Baltimore for the past two years.

Born in this city, Mr. Harden was a son of the late Samuel and Sarah Miller Harden. He was employed as a bookkeeper by the Buchanan Lumber Company until two years ago when he accepted a position in the accounting department of the General Motors Corporation there. He was a member of the Church of the Brethren.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Lillian Howe Harden, one daughter, Ann Howe Harden, Baltimore; three sisters, Mrs. John Messman and Mrs. Oscar Wagner, Cumberland; Mrs. William Shubert, Hagerstown; and two brothers, William H. Harden and Edward S. Harden, Cumberland.

The body arrived at the Kight funeral home here last night and will remain there for funeral services.

MISS ANNIE LYNN RITES

Funeral service for Miss Annie Lynn, 90, a native of Cumberland, who died Thursday at her home in Baltimore, were held Saturday afternoon in Emmanuel Episcopal church with the Rev. Louis H. Ewald, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal church, officiating. Interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

JAMES E. DAVIS

James Elmer Davis, 82, Stroudsburg, Pa., died at 9 o'clock last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Etta M. Price, 532 Valley street, where he had been visiting since last Thursday. He had been in failing health for sometime.

Surviving besides his daughter are three sons, Ellsworth E. Davis, Stroudsburg; George M. Davis, Rome, Mich.; Charles E. Davis, Piney Grove; one sister, Mrs. Sarah Shear, Williamsport, Pa.; and two brothers, Isaac Davis, Wind Gap, Pa.; and Gilbert Davis, Stroudsburg.

The body will remain at the Kight funeral home until tonight when it will be shipped to Stroudsburg for burial.

V-Mail May Be Sent By Air for 6 Cents

V-mail letters to members of the armed forces of the United States overseas may be sent by air mail at the rate of six cents per letter, James C. Shriver, postmaster, announced yesterday. In case such letters are sent by air mail to members of allied armies, the rate is eight cents, James C. Shriver, postmaster, announced yesterday.

V-mail service is now available between this country and members of the British army in North Africa and Italy. Rates for such letters are three cents if by surface and eight cents if by air mail.

Local Sailor Is Killed in Crash Of Navy Plane

Arthur W. Wartzack Dies on Way Home To Spend 10-day Furlough

Seaman First Class Arthur W. Wartzack, 24, son of Mrs. Mary Wartzack, 216 South Smallwood street, was killed in a plane crash Friday near Flagstaff, Ariz., according to word received by his family.

Wartzack, who would have been 25-years-old yesterday, was one of eighteen persons who died in the crash of a navy transport plane. He was on his way to Cumberland to spend a ten-day furlough after being in the Southern Pacific area as a gunner on a destroyer escort for more than a year.

His brother, said Seaman Wartzack saw action in the Solomons and other Pacific islands. He was home over a year ago after being on Atlantic convoy duty. He attended Allegany high school and was employed at the Celanese plant here before entering the navy.

He was a son of Mrs. Wartzack and the late Ernest Wartzack. His father died in 1931 as a result of being gassed while serving in the army in the First World war.

Survivors besides his mother and brother Ernest, include another Seaman First Class Herbert J. Wartzack, an aerial gunner at Jacksonville, Fla., and a sister, Miss Mary Wartzack, Baltimore.

According to latest information received here the body is expected to arrive at the Wolford funeral home Wednesday or Thursday, where services will be conducted. Interment will be in Zion Memorial cemetery.

Debt Freedom Service Is Held At Grace Church

$15,075 Is Raised on Goal of $22,500; Campaign Continues

Climaxing the third week of an intensive "Crusade for Freedom from Debt," the Rev. Dr. Charles Wentworth, representative of the Finance and Debt Raising Department of the Division of Church Extension of the Methodist church, spoke yesterday morning at Grace Methodist church, of which the Rev. Charles M. LeFew is pastor.

Dr. Wentworth spoke at the church for the past three weeks as the campaign to raise $22,500 plus the cost of redecorating the sanctuary got underway.

A total of $15,075 has been raised in the past three weeks with approximately $1,500 of that figure having been collected since Thursday. Of the total, about $3,500 is in cash and the remainder in pledges, the Rev. Mr. LeFew said, adding that the drive will be continued until next March.

Yesterday morning Dr. Wentworth emphasized the importance of Christianity in the present day and told members of the congregation that Christians must be sincere and sacrificial in their living.

Speaking at last night's service was Lieut. (j. g.) Harry Amtower, navy chaplain. His theme was what servicemen will expect of the church after the war.

A religious motion picture, "Journey into Faith," also was shown at last night's service which was attended in a body by the Girls' league of Fort Hill high school.

After the service, the Rev. Mr. LeFew announced that the next meeting of fund campaign workers will be held at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday in the Ladies' Bible class room at the church. The next meeting of the official board of the church has been postponed from May 4 to May 11.

Don't Telephone For Returns

Election officials are asked to call the NEWS, 1122, tonight as soon as the count is completed. Those calling from outside Cumberland should call collect.

The NEWS will post returns on the bulletin board in front of the TIMES-NEWS office, but returns will not be given over the phone and readers are earnestly asked not to call for them, as it is impossible for the NEWS staff to give out results while tabulating returns.

An effort will be made to carry complete results in the NEWS Tuesday morning but this can only be accomplished through the co-operation of election officials in telephoning returns immediately after the counting is completed, and by the public not tying up the phones by calling for returns.

25,556 Persons May Be Employed Here after War

Employment on Public Works Is Not Included in Report

Postwar employment in Cumberland is expected to reach a figure of 25,556 persons, or 2,400 less than the estimated postwar labor force available, according to figures compiled by the Postwar Planning committee of the chamber of commerce and contained in the chamber's April report of activities.

The initial report of the survey committee of the postwar planning group has been made by Joseph C. Whitesel, chairman, and it estimates the postwar labor force at 28,306 as ecompared to the 23,362 persons now employed in local industries and mercantile establishments.

According to a survey made by the survey committee, postwar employment will be increased to 25,556, and does not take into consideration employment on public works such as flood control, improvements to the city water system, sewers and highways.

Manufacturer Vicits City

It was pointed out by Harold W. Smith, secretary of the chamber, that changing conditions can readily alter the picture, and Robert L. Stallings, chairman of the industrial committee, reported that the president and general manager of an eastern manufacturing company visited Cumberland last week to inspect local properties and check available labor, taxes and community services.

In the April report, figures show that employment for seventeen local industries in March, decreased by 1,706 persons from the employment total of 20,619 in March 1943. Payrolls for the same seventeen industries decreased $473,876.36 in March as compared to the $3,290,660.01 payroll in the same month a year ago.

Postal receipts and defense stamps, however, showed increases, with postal receipts in March 1944 standing at $25,612.46 while in February they stood at $23,834.38, or $1,778.08 less. Defense stamp sales in March totaled $58,862.50 while the previous month they were $53,005. For March this represented an increase of $5,857.50.

Savings Bonds Increase

In contrast, postal savings bonds and postal savings deposits were higher in February than they were in March, the former totaling $26,606.25 in February and $9,525 less in March. Postal savings deposits in March were $9,041, or $7,454 less than the $16,495 in February.

United States Employment Service registrations as of April 15 were 1,297 while as of March 15 they were 1,075. Placements as of April 15 totaled 997 and as of March 15 were 283.

Light Vote Is Expected Today In Primary

Chief Interest Centers in Nominations for United States Senate

Indications last night were that an unusually light vote will be cast in Allegany county today in the state primary, due primarily to there being no contest in either party for Congress in the Sixth district. There is only one contest—United States Senate — in which nominees will be selected.

Republicans seeking the Senate nomination are Rives Matthews, Princess Anne county; Paul Robertson, Baltimore City and Blanchard Randall, Jr., Baltimore City.

United States Senator Millard E. Tydings, is seeking re-nomination and is opposed by Charles Baden, Montgomery county; Willis R. Jones, Baltimore City; Vincent F. Loug, Baltimore City and Stephen B. Peddicord, Baltimore City.

Besides the Senate candidates Allegany county voters will have the choice of voting for Wendell L. Willkie for the presidential nomination or voting for an uninstructed convention delegation. Willkie has withdrawn from the race, but his name appears on the ballot as he withdrew to late to have it omitted.

There will be contests in some of the congressional districts, but in the Sixth Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Republican, and Daniel F. McMullen, Democrat are unopposed for nomination.

The seventy-five polling places in Allegany county will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Write-in votes are legal in Maryland and voters may write in the name of any candidate they wish to vote for, although his name is not upon the printed ballot today. Space is left to write-in votes in Maryland. According to the Registration and Election Laws of Maryland such a practice is within the law.

Wife Calls Husband Fake German Agent, Seeks Annulment

Self-styled Foreign Representative Illegally Entered United States

Married on February 19, 1932, to a man who represented himself to be of "great importance and prominence in foreign service of the German Empire," but who she contends never intended to live with her and married her because he believed her to be a person of considerable financial means, Mrs. Margaret M. Heller filed suit in circuit court Friday for annulment of her marriage to Martin Heller.

The bill of complaint, filed by Morris Baron for Mrs. Heller, relates that the marriage ceremony was performed by a civil magistrate at New Orleans, La., but that the marriage was never consummated.

Two days after the marriage, Heller was picked up by immigration authorities for illegal entry into the United States and on May 22, the bill avers, he was taken to Atlanta, Ga., to join a deportation party bound for New York and subsequently for Germany.

Mrs. Heller points out that she has made numerous unsuccessful efforts to contact him, but that she does not know his whereabouts or if he is alive or dead.

A court order signed Friday gives Heller until June 15 to answer the charges but it is not very likely that he will appear in court. Under the Immigration act of March 4, 1929, he is barred forever from entering the United States again.

Mrs. Heller asks that she be given permission to resume use of her maiden name, Margaret M. Bel.

Harry Sites Rites Held at Eckhart

Eckhart Mines Resident Was Victim of Hit-Run Accident

Funeral services for Harry "Jerry" Sites, 26, of Eckhart Mines, who died Friday morning in Memorial hospital of injuries suffered last Saturday night when he was struck by a hit-run driver in Cresaptown, were held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sites, Sr., Eckhart Mines, at 2 p. m. yesterday.

The Rev. John Wilson, pastor of Eckhart Methodist church, officiated and interment was in Eckhart cemetery.

Pallbearers were Clarence Miller, Charles Eckhart, Jesse Porter, James Shinholtz, Rueben Lewis and William Close.

Flower bearers were Robert E. Nelson, Ralph Pape and Alvin Brode.

Quinton Harold Rotruck, 24, Keyser, W. Va., was arrested a short time after the accident and has admitted that he was the driver of the car that struck Sites and fatally injured him, States Attorney Morgan C. Harris, disclosed. Sites did not regain consciousness before his death.
